LORD GREY DENOUNCES COALITION GOVERNMENT

First Speech Since His Retirement May Mean Political Re-Entry

WARNS IRELAND

Approves Conferenee But Sinn Fein Must Not Push Too Far

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Lord Grey, the former Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, at Berwick today made his first political speech since his retirement in 1916. This is regarded as forecasting his reentry into political life with active participation in the councils of the independent Liberal Party.

He denounced the Coalition as having lost both its raison d'etre and the confidence of the country.

Lord Grey condemned the Government's past policy in Ireland but approved the conference. He warned the Irish representatives against forcing negotiations to a point where the British people would believe their self-preservation to be endangered, for instance, the naval defense of the two islands must be under one authority.

Lord Grey strongly asseverated that the only solution of the Irish problem was to take Ireland into partnership precisely on the same terms as the self-governing Dominions with a single stipulation that, while it was possible for outlying Dominions to have separate naval bases, the protecton of Great Britain and Ireland could only be ensured under a single authority.

Chemist Is Given Highest Honor By French Congress

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 10.—The opening ceremony of the Industrial Chemistry Congress took place this morning at the Conservatory of Arts and Crafts. The Congress will sit for three days under the presidency of the Minister of Commerce and Industry.

Sir William Pope, President of the Society of Chemical Industry and Professor of Chemistry at Cambridge University, read a paper on the "Future of Organic Chemistry." The Minister of Commerce presenting Sir William Pope with the Grand Gold Medal of the Society warmly congratulated him on his masterly lecture, which he said opened up a new vista for industry and would set it on a particularly interesting road.

At the afternoon sitting Professor Camille Matignon, of the College de France, spoke on the state and development of the azote (nitrogen) industries and M. Gal, of the Society of Electro-Chemistry and Electro-Metallurgy, spoke on the French ceramic industry.

M. Georges Clame will hold a discussion in the Great Amphitheater of the Sorbonne this evening on the synthesis of ammonia with experiments in projection.

CHINA DUE IN TODAY

The steamer China of the China Mail is due to arrive at 10 o'clock this morning from San Francisco by way of Honolulu and Japan ports. The vessel will dock at the China Merchants' Central Wharf and will be dispatched for Hongkong and Singapore tomorrow morning.

TREATY'S KNELL RUNG BY FRENCH AND GERMAN PACT

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—The conclusion of the Loucheur-Rathenau agreement has evoked singularly little comment in England though according to well informed Paris correspondents, it practically means that the Versailles Treaty is doomed, for if Germany defaults under the recent Allied London agreement, France will not suffer. She exclusively will obtain payment by accepting German goods.

The efforts of Germany to raise money to pay the Allies in cash have resulted in disastrously lowering the value both of the mark and franc. Thus, the payment in kind arranged under the new agreement is the only effective way of meeting the reparations.

The only consolation Great Britain derives from the agreement is that she now has a chance of recovering lost foreign markets, as with France's sense of wrong appeased, there will probably be no more unsettling reparations crises.

Stand Firm For Ireland Is De Valera's Plea To Whole Country On Eve Of Parley

"Peace Will Come Through Stern Determination Of Close Knit Nation, Not By Skill And Statesmanship," He Proclaims

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 11.—On the eve of the Irish peace conference in London, Dail Eireann has issued a proclamation from Mr. de Valera to the people of Ireland in which the "President" urges Irishmen to stand together for Ireland and to support the delegates unitedly and unflinchingly.

He says that all share the desire to bring the "secular conflict" to an end, but adds:

"The struggle on our side has always been simply for the maintenance of a right which is indefeasible and cannot either be relinquished or compromised."

Mr. de Valera fears that it is unlikely that a claim, conflicting with Ireland's right, will be abandoned, and now considers that Ireland should not indulge in foolish hopes, adding:

"Peace ending the conflict will be secured not by the skill and statemanship of the leaders but by the stern determination of a close-knit nation, steeled to the acceptance of death rather than the abandonment of rightful liberty." He warns against division.

London, Oct. 10.—Mr. Michael Collins arrived in London this morning, thus completing the Sinn Fein delegation to the Irish Conference which is expected to be opened by Mr. Lloyd George at No. 10 Downing Street tomorrow morning.

The British Government representatives to the conference will meet this evening at Downing Street to discuss procedure. Mr. de Valera will be kept in constant touch with the delegates by special courier.

ASK STRICT TRUCE

London, Oct. 10.—It is learned in official quarters that when the Irish conference meets, the British Government representatives will probably demand from the Sinn Fein representatives an undertaking that the truce will be more strictly observed while the negotiations are progressing.

AMERICAN SCHOOL DRIVE FOR FUNDS WILL OPEN OCT. 16

Meeting Of Those Who Are To Direct Campaign To Be Held This Morning

Methods to be followed in a campaign to raise $150,000 needed to begin building work on the new American School will be decided upon at a meeting this morning of those who will be in active charge of the work of raising subscriptions. The meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, follows a preliminary meeting that was held yesterday afternoon at the Navy Y.M.C.A.

Dr. W. T. Findlay presided at yesterday's meeting when Mr. W. W. Bartlett, Principal of the American School, explained the aims in view. It was emphasised that it is intended in the course of the campaign, which will begin October 16 and last one week, to approach every American resident in Shanghai for aid. While the campaign is in progress those in charge of it will meet daily at tiffin at the Navy Y.M.C.A. when reports of work accomplished will be presented.

At the meeting held yesterday addresses were made by Mr. L. E. McLachlin, who has been organising men's teams of workers for the campaign, Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, who has organised the women's teams, Consul-General Cunningham, Dr. Luther Freeman, Mr. A. R. Hager, Mr. Carl Seitz and Dr. J. T. Proctor.

Those who have been appointed team leaders and who are to choose their own workers are Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, Mrs. T. E. Doremus, Mrs. M. F. Perkins, Mrs. P. P. Whitham, Mrs. J. B. Fearn, Mrs. H. H. Arnold, Mrs. F. J. Raven, Mrs. C. W. Atkinson and Messrs. A. R. Hager and George Fitch, and Dr. W. G. Hiltner and Dr. Luther Freeman.

DR. J. A. WADDELL WILL REPORT ON YANGTSZE SPAN

Noted Engineer Thinks Bridge At Hankow Should Be "Live Proposition"

A report on the possibility of bridging the Yangtsze at Hankow and at Nanking is being prepared by Dr. J. A. Waddell at the request of the Chinese Government and is to be submitted within a short time.

Dr. Waddell, who is at present in Shanghai, was asked to study conditions both at Hankow and Nanking and to consider the feasability of crossing the Yangtsze by means of bridging, tunnelling or by ferry service. Dr. Waddell found that the Yangtsze was more easy to bridge at Hankow than at Nanking and that a bridge at Hankow should be a live proposition.

The details of his findings will not be made public until the Chinese Government's permission has been obtained, after presentation of the report.

Dr. Waddell leaves today for Hankow. He will return to Shanghai in a few days to address the students of St. John's University, and is planning to leave for Peking about October 16. The Chinese Government has requested Dr. Waddell to inspect a number of railroad bridges with a view to strengthening them so that they can carry with safety the weight of the heavy rolling stock now in use. The bridges were originally built to accommodate European cars carrying from ten to fifteen tons, and are therefore subjected to considerable strain by American rolling stock weighing from forty to eighty tons.

No action has as yet been taken by the Peking government on the majority and minority reports submitted by the board of advisory engineers on the Yellow River bridge competition. It is well known that Dr. Waddell has maintained all alopg that none of the plans submitted should be used without fundamental modification and that the tendered total costs are considerably too high. As the Chinese government can ill afford to waste any money it has been reported from Peking that fresh bids may be called for.

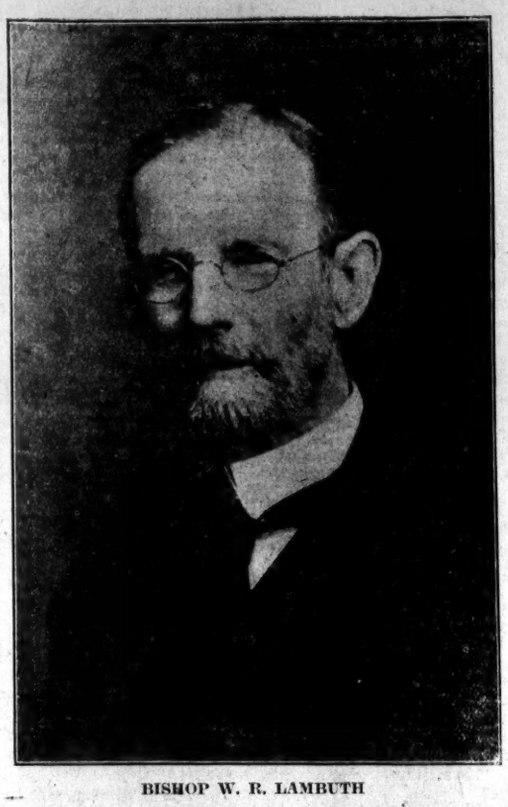
Last Services Are Held For Pioneer Missionary



BISHOP W. R. LAMBUTH

Funeral services for the late Bishop W. R. Lambuth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, were held at 2 o'clock yesterday at the Moore Memorial Church, corner Yunnan and Hankow Roads.

The urn containing the ashes of Bishop Lambuth, whose remains were cremated in Japan where he died following an operation, arrived yesterday on the Suwa Maru.

Hundreds of friends attended the ceremony, which was conducted by Dr. A. P. Parker, and followed the procession out to the old French Pah Sien Jao.

The service at the cemetery was under the direction of Dr. J. C. C. Newton of Japan who brought the urn to Shanghai. Missionaries of the Southern Methodist Church from Nanking, Soochow, Huchow and Changchow were among the many friends who paid their last respects to the pioneer missionary. Large numbers of Chinese pastors, workers and church members were present at the service.

Only One Kind Of Fan Lacking Here In China

By Elsie McCormick

If a man walked down the street in a crude Western land agitating a delicate lacquer fan, the passersby would either look behind him to see when the elephants and the rest of the circus were coming or else wonder how he had gotten so far away from his keeper.

In China, however, the gentleman who appears in summer without a fan is either a hopeless eccentric or a person whose desire to follow Western customs has caused him to lose all sense of the fitness of things. The fan, to the Chinese, is not an ostrich product that merely sifts the air, neither is it an impractical object for the leading lady to break and hurl at the fireplace when the villain threatens to reveal that she always belonged to the Christian Endeavor and hasn't any past.

Fans in China are considered as necessary to the average person as a ticket-punch is to the wardrobe of a well-clad conductor.

Their popularity dates from the time when one Wu Wang invented them about 1122 B.C. for the purpose of shielding his countenance from the dust of the chariot wheels. By means of a heavy mental operation abetted by experiment, Wu Wang later discovered that air will move when pushed, just like a coolie in unsolicited contact with a Sikh policeman.

RETIRES ON REPUTATION

After a day or two of uninterrupted thinking, Wu did the Columbus act for another continent of thought and unflinchingly faced the conclusion that his dust intimidator might also be used to push the air around. Having accomplished this feat of mental achievement, Wu retired from active toil and lived the rest of his life on his reputation.

In any case, the fan soon became as familiar an object on the Chinese landscape as a canal of water in urgent need of dry cleaning. It is recorded that an emperor of the Chin dynasty forbade the use of silk in fans, on the ground that silk was the only fabric capable of keeping people warm after they had reached the age of fifty and that therefore it should not be wasted on mere luxuries. Perhaps this fabric theory accounts for the fondness which up-to-date foreign grandmothers have for taffeta dancing dresses.

A prejudice against black fans developed rather early, as black was considered a sinful color, capable of contaminating anybody in contract with it. Old men, however, were exempted from the traditional tabu, the theory being either that age was a great counteracting virtue in itself or else that further contamination was impossible.

INFINITE IN VARIETY

During the cycles of time that have rolled by since the date of Wu Wang's brain-wave, more types of fans have been developed than there are hairs in the head of the Circassian beauty in the sideshow. There have been fans of kingfisher feathers, fans made of beetles' wings, silk fans with handles of lacquer, ivory or jade, and the common or palm-leaf fans waved by chaperons of the humble barrow. Styles of fans change slightly from year to year, and the fans carried in spring or autumn differ from those used in summer. Likewise the man who takes his up too early in the year or discards it too late, regardless of the climatic quirks involved, receives the same greeting as he who dons his straw 'skimmer' at untimely seasons in other lands.

Included in the long roster of fans is a trick variety, which, if opened a certain way, falls to pieces as if it had tarried too long under the wheels of a motor truck. A jerk in the other direction, however, rend-

Babe Ruth Clouts Out His Usual Homer And Is Thus Far Hero Of Championship Series

YANKS WIN FIRST

Take Two Games Before Giants Slug Way To Victory In Third

The 1921 Championship title in Major League Baseball on the first five games of the World's series appears to be going to the New York Yankees. They have taken three out of the first five games played. Babe Ruth, is batting daring base running and all-round ball playing have given the edge to the Americans.

The Yanks won the first game by superiority in every department; the second was won on brave base-running. The Giants took the third game in a slugfest, and they repeated again in the fourth on better hitting and sacrificing. The fifth game went to the Yanks.

Babe Ruth the star home-run artist of all time suffered a bruised arm from a slide to third in the first game. He continued however and clouted out his usual homer, the sixtieth of the year in the fourth game. He carried on in the fifth game with bandaged arm and leg. He is classed as the hero of the series.

YANKS TAKE FIRST

New York, Oct. 7.—The New York American League team won the opening game of the World's Series at the Polo Grounds before 35,000 people, besting the Giants in every department of the game. The score was 3-0.

Carl Mays' submarine ball had the Giants' batters tied into knots although Frank Frisch, the National League third sacker, made four hits in as many trips to the plate. Babe Ruth accounted for one run with a blazing single in the third.

In the fifth inning McNally stole home.

Mays pitched masterfully and the Yankees played great ball behind him. The American League team's victory was well earned, marked as it was by fine fielding, hard hitting and clever base running.

AND SECOND ALSO

New York, Oct. 8.—In a game featured by daring base running on the part of the Yankees, the Giants lost the second game of

CANAL TOLLS BILL PASSES U. S. SENATE BY 10 VOTES

Measure Will Encounter Hostility In House Now Is Belief

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 11.—The Senate has passed the Panama Bill, allowing American ships to pass through the Panama Canal free of tolls, but it is believed that the measure will encounter strong opposition in the House of Representatives.

Party lines were ignored in the Senate debate, Senator Lodge being among the opponents of the Bill. The strength of the opposition was shown in the division in which the Bill was only adopted by 47 votes to 37.

PLOT TO MURDER GENERAL WANG COMES TO LIGHT

A plot to assassinate General Wang Pei-chun, recently given an appointment as Civil Governor of Kweichow by the Canton Government, has been bared by the local Chinese authorities, according to report from Chinese sources.

General Wang Pei-chun is a brother of the late General Wang Wen-hua, who was shot to death by an unknown assassin in front of the Yih Ping Shang Hotel last March, and his own murder was arranged to have taken place at the Shanghai North railway station last Thursday night, when the man declared to have been delegated to the task was arrested by Chinese detectives. The intended victim was also a member of the Southern delegation to the internal peace conference there.

The plot to murder General Wang, according to the prisoner's story, was laid by the same man who plotted the death of the general's brother, a man named Yuan Tsu-ming, one of General Wang Wen-hua's aides. Fearing detection he went to Hankow, after promising Hsin, Tsai and others a large sum of money to make away with General Wang Pei-chun.

For several months General Wang Pei-chun has been living at an address in Bubbling Well Road with two men named Tsai and Hsin. Last Thursday General Wang went to Hangchow and his relatives requested Hsin to go to the train to meet him when he returned in the evening. Hsin took the family motor car and went to the station. The train was late and Hsin's nervous actions on the platform aroused the suspicions of a detective, who questioned him and, finding his answers unsatisfactory, searched him, finding a dagger. After his arrest Hsin made a confession.

As a result of Tsai's story, Hsin, who had removed to the Hsin Lee Hotel, Kiukiang and Hoopeh Roads, was arrested and several other men were also taken into custody. All lay the responsibility for the contemplated crime upon Yuan, who, it is said, would have obtained the appointment as governor of Kweichow if the plot had succeeded.

QUEENSLAND IS AFTER U.S. LOAN PREMIER ADMITS

(Reuter's Service)

Brisbane, Oct. 10.—The Queensland Premier, Mr. E. E. Theodore has now admitted that Queensland is negotiating an American loan. His contradictory statements caused a scene in the Parliament. Mr. Morgan, the leader of the Opposition, was suspended for a week for defying the Chair. Mr. Theodore declared that the exchange position would be advantageous because the loan is issued on a dollar basis which the Government would convert into pounds sterling.

Melbourne, Oct. 10.—Sir Joseph Cook, the Commonwealth Treasurer, announces his disapproval of the Queensland loan, and says that this is the first Australian State to go outside the Empire for the purpose of raising a loan. Moreover, seven percent is, in his opinion, a very high rate for a Government loan.

PALESTINE AND MESOPOTAMIAN MANDATES HELD

Nations League Defers Its Examination Of Two Of Committees Reports

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 10.—The Council of the League of Nations today considered the report of the Permanent Committee on Mandates, which stated that reports had been received from the Mandatory Powers relating to the administration of the various territories.

All these had been examined with the exception of those on Mesopotamia and Palestine which had been deferred owing to the state of uncertainty with regard to the "A" Mandates.

The President of the Council, Dr. Wellington Koo, paid a tribute to the work of the Committee and invited the President of the Committee and two of his colleagues to form a subcommittee at the next session of the Council regarding the question of the national status of the inhabitants of the "B" and "C" mandated territories, which, the Committee advised, demanded a prompt solution.

The other suggestions made, he said, would be communicated to the Governments pending the Council's definite decision when drawing up the Mandates.

The organisations are the Kiangsu Educational Association, Chinese Vocational Educational Association, the Federation of Educational Associations, the Cotton Merchants' Association, the Chinese Newspapers' Union, the Shanghai Teachers' Union, the Chinese Overseas Association, the Shanghai Educational Association and the World's Chinese Students' Association.

DEATH ROLL OF STR. ROWAN NOW PLACED AT 17

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—It is officially stated that two missing members of the crew of the steamer Rowan have turned up. Thus eleven of the crew are missing, including Captain Brown.

The official death roll is at present 17, but a number of persons are still missing, including several members of the Southern Syncopated Orchestra who had just concluded a concert engagement in Glasgow and were proceeding to Dublin. The orchestra lost all its belongings. The drummer was picked up by a destroyer, but died later from exposure.

It is stated that a boatload of terror-stricken people was smashed to pulp between the Rowan and the Clan Malcolm at the moment of the collision.

London, Oct. 10.—The death-roll in the Rowan disaster is mounting. The missing now total 27.

Admiral Strauss To Leave Friday For The South

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, who has been in China for the past several weeks and who is now in Hankow, will return to Shanghai on Friday and sail on his flagship, the Huron for an extensive visit to Hongkong and the Straits Settlements.

The Huron will go down the river to Hongkong and then sail for Java, Sumatra and other Straits and Indies ports and then to Manila, arriving there about the middle of December.

Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, the first admiral to command the American Yangtsze patrol, arrived Saturday on the destroyer Talbot and immediately left for Hankow, new base of the patrol. He was accompanied by his aide, Lieut.-Commander Lang.

DR. SUN DEMANDS MACAO REMOVE DEFENSE WORKS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Reuter's Agency is informed that Dr. Sun Yat-sen's Government has demanded the removal of the defensive works in Macao on the ground that Portugal is not entitled to erect them. It also complains that Portuguese soldiers had crossed the maritime limits outside Macao.

On the other hand, the Portuguese deny these allegations and complain of the presence of Chinese gunboats and concentration of Chinese troops at Chinsan.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

The matrimonial prospects of Waung Yen-kwe are all jangled again. As a matter of fact they've been rather scrambled for some time, but yesterday a fresh crop of complications were injected and Waung now finds himself less adjacent to the altar than ever, not to mention having his bank account retarded $10.

Time was when the nuptial outlook of Waung glowed with a roseate and reassuring effulgence. The preliminary negotiations had been satisfactorily accomplished, at least so Waung protests, the terms were proclaimed agreeable to the families concerned and all seemed set for the ceremony. But just about the time Waung was receiving congratulations from the other young fellows who thought Miss Kau Ling-dien about the pick of the matrimonial market, the feminine parent of Miss Kau began to exhibit symptoms of the sort the jokesmiths used to attribute to all mothers-in-law.

According to the son-in law elect she issued a list of demands and stipulations which made Japan's twenty-one look like a shrinking suggestion. No mere male could hope to cope with some of her orders, Waung declared to the Magistrate yesterday, and the rest of them were financially impossible to him. Thus the wedding was delayed.

Waung ruminated a while over his difficulties and then went to Sung Ah-ng, who is a mafoo, and engaged the latter's carriage. Gathering in a lady friend by the name of Daung Ng-sz, he had himself driven to a point on Boone Road. At 3:45 a.m. each day Miss Kau Ling-dien passes along this thoroughfare en route to the silk filature in which she is due to start unreeling cocoons at 4 sharp. Yesterday morning when the young lady approached the point at which the carriage was parked Waung picked her up, placed her in the orbicle and ordered the driver to start for the little church around the corner. And did his fiancee throw both arms round his neck and assure him that she was ready to fly with him to the remote spaces of the earth? She did not. She yelled for the police. And the police were forthcoming.

After Waung had told his story and Mme. Kau had explained her lack of enthusiasm for the inclusion of Waung among her relatives the Court addressed the latter briefly on the ethics of modern courtship and told him to pay the clerk $10 as he passed out. The mafoo was assessed $3 for his share in the proceedings and the lady who chaperoned the kidnapping party was dismissed with the advice that she join no such expeditions in future.

DZUNG WAS PLAYFUL

Dzung Ah-lien is a gambolsome sort of party, or was until yesterday. On Monday a shop assistant was mailing some packages of silk at the Chinese Post Office when he discovered that one of the parcels was missing and turned to see it in the possession of Dzung. When collared Dzung protested that he was merely "playing" with the bundle. In the Mixed Court yesterday he stuck to the story, elaborating it to the extent of an account of how the silk had fallen on his foot, after which he had picked it up "in play." According to the testimony of witnesses the prisoner had been on the verge of starting a game of hide and seek when the shop assistant caught him. Dzung will have plenty of time but not much opportunity for play during the coming three months.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 9 (delayed).—Twelve thousand people enthusiastically greeted the King and Queen today at the Assembly Hall of the Manchester Royal Exchange.

Sir Arthur Haworth read a loyal address in which he mentioned that the Exchange now covered one and three-quarter acres. It had a membership of 11,000, representing 2,000 firms, was operating 60,000,000 spindles and 600,000 looms, and had a capital of £300,000,000.

The King, replying, said it was his earnest hope that the ceremony would prove the starting-point of a steady and ever-increasing development of those trades which were centered in the Exchange, and that this would promote cordial relations between the people united by commercial ties.

Pieces of steel, painted and shaped like a closed fan, have also functioned extensively as a terminator of arguments.

FANS CARRY MESSAGE

China is likewise acquainted with the 'double entendre' fan, which is decorated innocently with a sprig of flowers, but which, under the two end ribs, conceals a quip that would not be popular at a missionary meeting. Fans have been used considerably in China for propaganda purposes and for the picturisation of national events. Thus fans showing the slaughtering of Roman Catholic priests and the burning of the French cathedral were circulated extensively after the Tientsin massacre. The Chinese authorities, however, succeeded in confiscating a large number of them.

Perhaps the largest fan ever used in China was a wooden model carried generally in the retinue of a mandarin. If he happened to pass another mandarin and had no time for the long ceremonial exchange of compliments that a meeting on the highroad would involve, the servants of both men placed the fans across their chairs. Thus they officially failed to see each other and the necessity for stopping was eliminated.

POOR "AUTUMN FAN"

With customary circumlocution, the various Chinese dialects refer to fans as a "change the season," a "strike the butterfly," and a "call the wind." A deserted wife is known poetically as an autumn fan, the idea being that her lord laid her aside when her usefulness to him was at an end.

Modern China, however, has one more type to add—the electric fan. So popular has this variety become that at a Shanghai funeral recently, one of the electric air stirrers was placed among the presents on the grave. The gift probably had the best of intentions behind it, but to the Western mind it seems to cast a certain innuendo on the probable destination of the deceased.

About the only kind of fan that China doesn't know about generally is the variety used by a baseball player in fanning out.

SAFEGUARDING ACT CAUSE OF MUCH COMMENT

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Sections of the trading community are objecting to the Safeguarding of Industries Act, which came into force on the 1st instant, insofar as the appended schedule includes many commodities not made in Britain and apparently not related to key industries.

The British Chemical Trade Association in a resolution of protest contends that the effect of such inclusion converts the Act into a tariff one, and suggests the appointment of a mixed Government and non-official committee to revise the schedule.

The Fancy Goods Section of the London Chamber of Commerce also demands a revision. It says that the Act is embarrassing trade.

Alderman James Kiley, M.P., Chairman of Messrs. Whyte, Ridsdale and Co., Ltd., export merchants, said that articles beyond those in the published list were subjected to a 33-1/3 percent duty.

Greek Brought To Trial For Murder Of His Wife

Plea Of Insanity Is Intimated For Georgacopoulos; Case Continues Today

Theodore V. Georgacopoulos, unregistered Greek, went on trial before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Yui of the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of murdering his wife, Pelagueya, who was found dead in a marshy stretch of country along the road to Woosung on the morning of July 12.

Georgacopoulos, who is a drug addict and in statements to police admitted that he and his wife had engaged in opium smuggling transactions, will put forward a plea of insanity according to intimations at yesterday's hearing. He is represented by Mr. L. K. Kentwell, Mr. R. C. Faithfull appearing to prosecute.

It was intimated at the opening of the hearing that the accused desired to enter a plea of guilty with the defense of insanity to be offered, but the assessor held that this might not be done and that the Court must decide the question of the defendant's mental condition.

The police prosecutor outlined the case. Georgacopoulos, he stated, had been living with his wife, a Russian, 28 years old, at an address on Avenue Joffre. About the first of July she left him and went to live at the Foreign Women's Home on Baikal Road. On the morning in question the accused came to the home and asked that his wife be allowed to go out with him. This she did, apparently in entirely cheerful mood.

LIKE SHEEP BLEATING

The pair evidently took the Yangtszepoo tram to the end of the line and walked on the road to Woosung and beyond the toll gate, where they were noticed by the men in charge. A short time later three Chinese boys who were cutting grass along the river heard a sound which they described as like the bleating of a sheep and one of them, according to his testimony to the police, saw a man pressing a woman down into a shallow pool of water. They raised the alarm and one of the toll gate men and a countryman ran up, while the foreigner fled toward the river, where he hailed a ferryman and got into his sampan. On being hailed the ferryman put back to shore and his passenger leaked out and tried to escape, but was caught by Chinese police.

The toll gate tender testified yesterday that when he and the countryman pulled the body out of the water there were marks on the left side of the throat which looked as though they had been caused by finger nails.

Dr. W. W. Billinghurst, who conducted the postmortem examination, testified that there were no evidences of external injury—decomposition would have prevented detection of the nail marks on the throat—and that the lungs gave no evidences of drowning. The woman's heart was unhealthy and in such a state that death might ensue in the event of a shock. In reply to the Assessor, the witness stated that it might have been possible for the victim to have been drowned and without evidences being apparent at the time the post mortem was held.

EFFECTS OF DRUG LACK

Dr. Billinghurst also gave testimony, in reply to questions by the Court, with regard to the effects of deprivation of morphia on a man addicted to the drug. So long as the addict was supplied with the drug, he said, its mental effect was not apparent. As the effect of the drug wore off there would be depression, which would become more and more marked, until the addict would become almost mentally deranged and would reach a state where he would do almost anything to get the drug.

One of the features which puzzled the police at the time of the woman's death, was the finding of a long knife near the spot where the body lay. Georgacopoulos denied all knowledge of the weapon, but it was subsequently identified as having been bought by the accused in a Japanese shop on Woosung Road. A shop assistant testified yesterday that the accused had purchased the knife from him about July 10.

The hearing was adjourned until this afternoon at 2:30.

NEW POLICY OF SOVIET BRINGS BIGGER OUTPUT

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 4.—A considerable increase of production of production in the various industries has taken place during the last few months. According to authoritative information, it is a result of the new economic policy of the Soviet Government providing for the remuneration of workers collectively in proportion to the amount of their production.

The Moscow coal fields yielded 3,750,000 poods of coal in August, while the output in July was 2,700,000 poods. During the first two weeks of September the output reached 2,500,000 poods.

The Siberian salt lakes yielded 8,000,000 poods of salt during the last two and half months ending September 15. The production of the Paroslav factory for manufacturing farming implements, formerly known as Westinghouse Works, has already exceeded its program by about ten percent.

The fishing season in the inland waters as well as in the Baltic, White, Black, and Caspian Seas has been successful. The catch this year is ten times that of last year. From five to ten cars of fish are daily shipped northward from Astrakhan.

At Novo-Nikolayevsk a new lead factory has been opened for manufacturing munitions and household goods. In the Shatzk district under the Tambov government, a new starch factory is producing 1,000 poods of starch daily.

According to an official announcement the supply of firewood for the winter is sufficient; 334,700 sajens of firewood for the city population are still at the railway sidings and more is being brought from the woods.

PEKING DEFINES STATUS OF SILK EXCHANGES HERE

One Of Rival Organisations Seeks Registration In Mixed Court

Developments in the rivalry of the two recently organised silk exchanges came yesterday in the form of certain orders from the Peking Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce and in an action taken in the Mixed Court.

The orders from Peking direct that the Shanghai Silk and Cocoon Exchange, which was promoted by Dr. C. T. Wang, be called the Shanghai Silk Exchange, the transactions of which are to be limited to yellow and white silk only.

The China Silk and Cocoon Exchange, of which Shen Lien-fang is principal organiser, is to be called the China Silk and Cocoon Exchange and is to deal only in coccons and filature silk.

The action at the Mixed Court consisted of an application made on behalf of Shen Lien-fang by Messrs. Teesdale, Godfrey and Newman. In the petition presented it is set forth that the China Steam Filature Silk Cocoon Exchange has been organised with the sanction of the local authorities and it was desired to secure protection of the Court by recording and disclosing full particulars of the enterprise by a public record with the Court.

The Court ruled that the papers in connection with the enterprise be placed on record and Mr. Newman was instructed to draft an order for the consideration of the Court.

LI. GEORGE SETS CONFERENCE ON LABOR DAY AHEAD

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 11.—After attending the momentous conference with the Sinn Feiners today Mr. Lloyd George has a no less portentous discussion with the Labor representatives on unemployment, from which very important developments are anticipated.

The fact that the conference was fixed a day earlier than was expected is regarded as an indication of the Prime Minister's desire to get to grips with the question.

In the meantime, the King has sent a letter to the Mayor of Manchester re-emphasising his concern in unemployment. His Majesty trusts that a local effort at co-operation, combined with the Government measures, will alleviate the present distress and provide a gradual restoration on a sound basis of the trade and commerce of the nation.

London, Oct. 10.—Mr. Lloyd George has sent a letter to Messrs. Bowerman and Arthur Henderson informing them that he can receive the Labor deputation on unemployment tomorrow evening.

He denies that he is responsible for any delays in meeting the Labor representatives as was suggested in the letter from the Labor Council on Oct. 7 and deeply regrets Labor's repudiation of co-operation saying that the financiers and employers are only too anxious to co-operate with the representatives of Labor but the latter's Council preferred to submit its own ideas without hearing other points of view.

That was not a helpful attitude in a crisis which could not be solved without effective co-operation of all clauses but, if the Labor leaders adhered to their own view, the Cabinet would meet them tomorrow.

The Labor Council accepted the Premier's invitation. They state that they did not refuse to co-operate with the Government but decline to be parties to any course which would involve further delay in dealing with unemployment.

BRITAIN TO SEND 6 DELEGATES TO THE CONFERENCE

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, October 10.—It is expected in well-informed quarters that the British delegation to the Washington Conference will be composed of Mr. Balfour, Lord Lee and probably Sir Auckland Geddes; Sir Robert Borden will represent Canada, Mr. G. F. Pearce Australia and, if possible, General Smuts South Africa.

The list may be subject to change in regard to one or two members, but it is certain that the British Empire will have six delegates. It remains to be seen whether the United States and Japan will think it necessary to follow suit.

GUNBOATS GO TO FREE S.S. MOLLER FROM RUSSIANS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, October 10.—Rumors in circulation here that the British steamer, Gladys Moellier, had been fired on by a Russian gunboat off Muroran, which were previously ignored owing to their vagueness, have now been confirmed and the Japanese gunboats, Harakaze and Hatsuyuki, have been despatched from Omisato to investigate.

The British steamer is reported to be en route for Petropavlovsk with a cargo of supplies for the Japanese troops in Kamtchatka, the landing of which the Russian gunboat tried to prevent.

DEADLOCK HALTS CHITA—JAPANESE TREATY PROGRESS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, October 11.—It is understood that the negotiations between Japan and Chita are practically at a deadlock owing to M. Petroff's insistence on the withdrawal of Japanese troops as a preliminary.

M. Petroff's suggestion of a transfer of the negotiations to Chita is not likely to be accepted but in view of the Russians' objections to Dairen it is believed that the venue might be changed to Harbin. Meanwhile it is reported in Peking that Japan is considering the recall of her delegation.

CHITA IS HOPEFUL

(Dalta News Agency)

Harbin (by mail), Oct. 2.—The Harbin Dalta correspondent had an interview with Mr. Kojevnikoff, the Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, during his stay here en route to Chita from the Dairen Conference. The following is an account of the interview:

1.—The mutual relations of the members of the Russian and the Japanese delegations at the Dairen Conference are of a strictly business nature and sincere. A common understanding has been reached and the Governments of the Far Eastern Republic and Japan know what each wants.

2.—The attitude of the Japanese along the South-Manchuria Railway and at Dairen towards the members and the staff of the Russian delegation is very sincere and obliging. One would think that there was nothing but friendly, neighborly and treaty relations between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic.

OPINIONS AT VARIANCE

3.—The Japanese people are paying great interest to the Dairen Conference. In the Japanese Government circles there is a struggle between the supporters of immediate evacuation of Japanese forces from Russian territory and simultaneous conclusion of a treaty with the Far Eastern Republic and Soviet Russia on mutually acceptable conditions, and the supporters of continuation of the intervention and conclusion of a treaty with the Far Eastern Republic detrimental to it.

4.—We expect that the sensible stand of the former group will meet the popular domand of the Japanese people and that desires of the Japanese militarists will be killed to the benefit of both the Japanese and the Russian nations.

5.—The voyage of the warship Mikosa, which was dispatched by the Japanese Government to frighten the peasants of Primoria who are unwilling to tolerate the intervention and the adventures any more, and for the purpose of protecting the fisheries violently seized by the Japanese, has sobered the Japanese and brought them to realise the dangers facing Japan in the Russian territorial waters. Japan is beginning to voice the neccessity of immediate evacuation, peace and friendship with the Russians instead of continuing to spend millions for the Siberian expedition, losing warships which cost millions of yen and deepening the enmity and hatred of the Russian nation towards Japan.

ADVENTURE IS COSTLY

6.—There is a strong current in Japan reproaching the Government for not grasping the chance of evacuation at the time of the convocation of the Constituent Assembly of the Far Eastern Republic and for continuing the costly adventure in Siberia.

7.—Such are the facts, but we must remember that imperialistic governments often act contrary to common sense and against the will of their people. It is true that such governments as a rule will perish, but before they fall, they can do much harm. We need not go far into history to seek for examples. The Russo-Japanese war from 1904 to 1905, provoked by the Russian imperialistic aggressors, took place against common sense and the will of the entire Russian people. A still better illustration is the fate of the imperialistic and militaristic Germany.

In conclusion Mr. Kojovnikoff said that he believed in the success of the Dairen Conference which has been called just in time as both Russia and Japan need peace in the Far East. Mr. Kojovnikoff and Mr. Ozornin were called on yesterday by the Taoyin of Harbin.

For picking the pocket of a foreign lady on a tramcar and trying to bribe the tram conductor to silence, a coolie was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday. The man had taken a purse containing money and keys from Mrs. R. Slobodskaja. The conductor did not witness the theft but the coolie evidently was tortured by the idea that he had been seen and, drawing the tramways employe to one side, proffered him 80 cents with the request that nothing be said. The conductor stopped the car and introduced a police constable into the affair.

120 KITCHENS AT WORK OF FEEDING RUSSIAN VICTIMS

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 4.—Including the sixty American kitchens, there are 120 kitchens in Petrograd for feeding the famine-sufferers. Since September 1 America has sent to the Volga districts 202 carloads of food. The Angora Government has sent 80,000 poods of wheat to Russia for the famine relief.

The steamer Frankfort with 1,130 tons of flour and the steamer Runo with a shipment of 2,040 tons of rye arrived at Petrograd on September 28.

SOAP FOR KIDDIES

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 6.—The American Famine Relief Administration has on hand about 20,000 poods of soap, which will be utilised exclusively for the children. It will keep a supply of foodstuffs in its store houses in the different famine districts and will receive fresh supplies regularly. A number of motor trucks have been received by the Relief Administration and twenty-five additional trucks and fifteen motor cars are on their way to the famine districts.

The agreement between the American Famine Relief Administration and Mr. Litvinoff was signed at Riga on August 20. The first American food transport was sent from Dantzig to Riga on August 23 and the second was dispatched from Hamburg to Petrograd which arrived at Petrograd on September 2. On September 6th the Relief Administration opened at Petrograd the first kitchen for children.

SEND FOOD TRAINS

On August 29 the Relief Administration dispatched the first food train from Riga to Moscow. This and later shipments were immediately forwarded to the Volga region. According to the Relief Administration, the people of the entire United States are helping the Russian famine sufferers. The Relief Administration is raising funds entirely by private donations.

The Council of Economy of South-East Russia, in view of the possibility of another drought, has made arrangements for sowing corn in the south-eastern regions of Russia as they can better endure a drought.

Several correspondents of American papers have visited Tsaritsin where they have been instructed by Mr. Hoover to investigate the extent of the famine. They state that America will collect $100,000,000 which will be enough to buy 1,000,000 tons of foodstuffs for the famine sufferers.

Seven Societies Unite To Aid Famine Relief Work

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 9.—A central organisation, to be known as the China International Famine Relief Commission which is to be the instrument for bringing relief from flood conditions or famine conditions, when they arise from natural disasters wherever these may occur in China, has been formed by the various famine relief societies who did the work of relieving the great famine of the past summer and winter.

The organisation will have a premanent secretariat, whose duty will be to collect all the data available from the experience in the past, and hold it in readiness for future use. There will be a committee by whose decisions the funds of the central organisation will be allotted and distributed. All the left-over funds of all the societies represented have been pooled with the central organisation and it is believed will amount to upwards of $1,000,000.

This project of establishing a permanent and unified organisation to stand ready to administer relief wherever it may be needed, has been under contemplation ever since the early days of the past famine, when the difficulties of operating through a dozen different bodies was proven, and the inefficiency of such a system shown. The project is now a reality.

SEVEN SOCIETIES UNITED

The representatives of seven famine relief societies, from Shanghai, Tientsin, Shantung, Honan, Shansi, Hankow and Peking met on September 21 in Peking, and formally voted that the central organisation be formed, that the left-over funds of the organisations be entrusted to it for use as an elected committee should see fit, and that there should be a permanent secretariat, that would, in co-operation with the Chinese Government Bureau for Famine Relief Investigation, collect the experience of the past famine in useable form so that it may be useful for the future, and that it carry on investigations as to ways and means of famine prevention.

It was also provided that the central organisation might expand by the addition of other relief societies. Any society might be admitted on the vote of two-thirds of the members of the commission. The commission is to meet at least semi-annually and the meetings are to be held in rotation in the cities of the societies represented. Half the members of the commission will form a quorum and voting by proxy shall be permitted. It was moved and passed that the temporary headquarters of the commission be in Peking and Mr. Dwight W. Edwards, of the Y. M. C. A. was appointed to act as the temporary secretary.

WORK OF SECRETARIAT

Taking up the specific points of the work of the secretariat the representatives of the various societies moved the following resolutions, for the guidance of the permanent secretary: a comparative study of the famine conditions in the entire area be made, that the question of the distribution of grain and supplies should be studied, that the different methods of relief used should be studied from the following points of view: (a) the number of lives saved, (b) the benefit to the people and the benefit to the country with particular regard to prevention of famine or flood and general economic developments; that the effects of the famine be studied in their relation to (a) the loss of life, (b) the economic loss to the country, (c) sale of property, (d) sale of children, (e) breaking up of families, (f) incurring of debt, (g) physical effects, etc., with a view to making recommendations as to methods of work to be carried out in future famines; that the question of community co-operation be studied, and that the question of famine and flood prevention in China be studied, and such work promoted in whatever ways seems most practical.

THOSE IN MOVE

The societies and the representatives were as follows: the Chinese Foreign F. R. S. of Shanghai, by Mr. Chang King-zung and Mr. W. M. Souter; the North China International F. R. S. of Tientsin, by Mr. James H. McCann and Mr. M. T. Liang; the Shantung International F. R. S. by Mr. R. S. Hall and Mr. S. M. Tang; the Honan F. R. S. by Mr. P. F. Wang and Bishop W. C. White; the Shansi F. R. S. by Mr. C. C. Wu and Mr. R. R. Gailey; the Joint Council of the Hankow F. R. S. by Mr. W. P. Mills; and the Peking United International F. R. S. by Admiral Tsai Ting-Kan and Dr. G. D. Gray. The Shensi F. R. S. was not represented because of the great distances making the journey impossible.

The reports of these meetings were sent to the respective societies, and it is expected that the permanent members of the commission will be elected very soon.

Condition Of Pavitch Unchanged; Mioka To Answer Charge

Dalmation Shot In Frenchtown Pistol Duel Saturday May Live, Doctors Say

A charge of attempted murder will probably be lodged in the Japanese Consular Court against M. Mioka, accused of shooting M. Pavitch at 114 Avenue Joffre Saturday afternoon. Mioka was handed over to the Japanese authorities by the French Police yesterday.

There was no change in the condition of M. Pavitch yesterday and doctors state it will be at least two days before they will be able to state definitely whether the wound in the abdomen will prove fatal.

JONES' BILL IS SACRED PLEDGE SAYS YEATER

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—A telegram from Manila states that at a farewell banquet, Acting Governor Charles E. Yeater, denounced the irresponsible proposals to perpetuate American sovereignty in the Philippines and said that the preamble to the Jones Act, which promised the sovereignty of the Filipinos, embodied a sacred pledge by America and that to erase it would stain the fame of America forever.

America, he said, would honor her promise when conditions justified her in doing so, but meanwhile agitation must be put down.

Pohlman Hearing Again Postponed; Now Set Saturday

The trial of Vera Pohlman, held on charges laid against her in connection with the theft of a check for £93 drawn in favor of the Lloyd Triestino line and alleged to have been stolen from a man named Yeartch, scheduled for yesterday was postponed until Saturday morning.

The case will come before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl at 10 o'clock. The trial was postponed until Saturday in order that new witnesses may be called. The defendant is represented by Mr. L. W. Hartigan.

Admiral Line Will Have 12-Day Service

A twelve day service between Seattle and the Orient will be maintained by the Admiral Line beginning in December, according to word just received in Shanghai.

The steamer Pine Tree State, named in honor of the state of Maine, has just been completed by the United States Shipping Board and has been allocated to the Admiral line. The Pine Tree State is the latest "535" type liner to be built and will leave Seattle on her maiden voyage for Shanghai on December 10. The vessel is due here about Dec. 27.

If you want to know all about things that never happen, start reading "FEVERISH FABLES" in Shanghai's new afternoon daily, THE EVENING STAR, which makes its first appearance next Monday, October 17.

Your Health Comes First
Good Health is your most valuable asset:—its preservation should, therefore, receive your most careful consideration. An important point which should always be borne in mind is the fact that a great many forms of ill-health can be traced, directly or indirectly, to disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is wise, therefore, to keep these organs in healthy activity. When they show any signs of derangement let that reliable medicine, Beecham's Pills, be taken at once. Always deal with digestive ailments in time. They are far-reaching in their possibilities of mischief if neglected, as they too often are. And yet it is generally easy to keep fit and well and free from many debilitating ailments by the simple use of Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!

No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.
An appreciative doctor wrote:—
"Lady——was placed under my care for the voyage Home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from haemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady——had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

Pott And Da Silva Play For Single Championship At Country Club Today

Toussaint's Scratching In Semi-Finals Puts Da Silva To Title Round; Large Gallery Expected To Attend; Match Commences At 3:30 p.m.

The singles championship of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association for 1921 will be decided this afternoon at the Country Club when W. S. A. Pott and G. M. da Silva meet in the final match. Play will commence at 3:30 o'clock.

Da Silva won into the finals by the scratching Monday of Mr. H. Toussaint with whom he was scheduled to play in the semi-finals. Pott qualified by his defeat of W. P. Roberts three sets out of five at the Columbia Country Club Monday.

Pott has played through the tournament which began October 3, from the first round. He has beaten A. O. M. Forrest, Mansel-Smith, J. L. Wade (on walkover), and Roberts. Da Silva entered the competition in the second round beating Carroll Lunt. The scratching of Toussaint Monday gave him the right to the finals.

Toussaint's failure to play his semi-final against da Silva was a great disappointment to followers of tennis, who were looking forward to his entering the finals today against Pott. A sharp game of tennis was expected.

Mr. Toussaint in explaining his scratching said that business had called him out of town over Monday, that he had been unable to get back in time for the match, and therefore would let it go by default.

The match today is certain to draw a large gallery of spectators Pott, the present holder of the singles title, while not at his best physically, yet is playing a keener stronger game than for some weeks past. He is considered fit to win.

The title however will not go without sharp opposition, for da Silva is rated as a worthy opponent of Shanghai's best. He played a strong game against Lunt, his only competitor in the tourney, and Lunt in his first and second round play was playing strong tennis.

Shanghai Interport Polo Team Retains Keswick Cup At Hongkong, 3 Goals To 1

Brennan Scores One In Third Chukker, McMichael Adds Two More In Fourth And Fifth; S.V.C. Light Horse Plays Army Past And Present Today

Shanghai retains possession of the Keswick Challenge cup for another year by their win Monday in the Interport Polo match at Hongkong. The score was 3 goals to 1, after six chukkers of play.

The match went scoreless until the third chukker when Shanghai registered the first goal. The score was tied in the third at 1 all. The fourth and fifth chukkers gave Shanghai one goal each bringing the count to 3 for Shanghai and one for Hongkong. The sixth period was without score.

J. F. Brennan, Shanghai's No. 1, put the ball over for Shanghai's first count in the third chukker. Mr. Sargeaunt equalised things in the next period with one score. Capt. E. H. McMichaels, Shanghai's No. 4 counted one for Shanghai shortly after Hongkong's lone tally in the fourth and added another in the fifth.

Shanghai was said to have had a slight advantage in the mounting, though their ponies by their long rest were on the verge of staleness. The team work of the Shanghai players however gave them the victory. They played the ball steadily and cleverly so that they had more chances at goals.

The Interport teams were selected as follows:

Shanghai—Messrs. J. F. Brennan, No. 1; C. C. Boyd, No. 2; H. G. Robinson, No. 3; E. C. McMichael, (Capt.), No. 4.

Hongkong—Mr. Bibbey, No. 1; Capt. Neville, No. 2; Mr. Sargeaunt, No. 3; Major Timmis, (Capt.), No. 4.

A second polo match, is scheduled for today between the Shanghai players, representing the Light Horse Troop, Shanghai Volunteer Corps, Past and Present and a Hongkong team representing the Army Past and Present, in which Major Timmis, Capt. Johnson, Lieut. Doddington and Mr. J. Bell Irving will play.

The Gymkhana program which follows today's polo match includes an Interport Section Tent Pegging contest; mounted golf, and several other items.

Golden Corn, Yankee Owned Horse, First In English Classic

London, Sept. 6.—Golden Corn, owned by Marshall Field, of Chicago, who intends to race extensively in England and France next year, proved herself the champion two-year-old of the season today by winning the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster.

Golden Corn beat by more than a length and a half over the six furlongs route both Lembach and Polyhistor, hitherto regarded the best youngsters. The winner's end of the purse was worth $8,000.

Golden Corn's only classic engagements for next year in England are the thousand Guineas and the Epsom Oaks, which is a companion to the Derby.

Clay Bird Shoot Set For Sunday

The clay bird shoot arranged for today between the American and British teams has been postponed, and will probably take place on Sunday afternoon instead.

The American team will consist of:—Hexamer, Doremus, Hendrickson, Gibson and Himrod.

The British Team: Read, Beatty, Gande, Algar, Nazar.

The shooting will not be confined solely to this match and other members of the Club are invited to attend.

Mlle. Lengien Shows Rarest Tennis Skill

Big Crowd Applauds With Whoops As She Plays Brilliant Game

New York, Sept. 6.—Nevertheless and notwithstanding, Suzanne Lenglen is the most marvellous woman America has ever seen on a lawn tennis court.

In the big inclosure at Forest Hills from which she fled a few weeks ago coughing, weeping and broken the French girl stood, yesterday afternoon, and slashed the life out of every ball which came her way. Paired with Dean Mathey she romped through two sets against Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Willis Davis by a score of 6-2, 6-1.

The big crowd in the stands of the West Side Tennis Club was surprised, immediately after the Davis Cup singles, when Eddie Conlon stepped to the center of the courts and announced that Mlle. Lenglen would take part in an exhibition match of mixed doubles.

"The match will not be played if it rains," added Conlon, and the crowd interpreted his remark as a cue that they were not to be too certain of the French girl until she actually appeared. There was a round of applause, rather more polite than anything else, and it was mixed with laughter. The applause which came a little later was different. It was real rooting with whoops in it. In fact, even veteran lawn tennis reporters were caught in the act of shouting.

A brand new Lenglen was on view. She volleyed superbly; she took the fast service of Willis Davis and smacked it back at him, and just about everything which went into the air above her head went crashing through the enemy's court. Mrs. Bundy, who ranks with the three or four best women tennis players in America, seemed when thrown into contrast with marvelous Suzanne yesterday merely a good wife and mother.

Mlle. Lenglen took no particular pains to play the lady. Instead she shot the ball at the feet of Willis Davis or angled it off so sharply into the alley that it set him to sprawling and swinging vainly. Often she poached upon the preserves of Mathey, her partner, elbowing him out of the way to make sure of the point.

Most thrilling of all were the duels which occurred when Suzanne took a position at the net and Davis tried to beat her down. The tall mitted by the board of advisory hitters in the game and he burned the ball across the net, but Mlle. Lenglen would flip it back at him time and again. More speed availed him nothing, for on other occasions the French girl's return would offer him an impossible get.

Tilden's Service Fastest In Game

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—That William T. Tilden, 2d, national tennis champion, who is defending his crown on his home club courts here at the Germantown Cricket Club, is the gifted possessor of the fastest service ever developed by any player in the history of the game is a fact that few followers of the sport would undertake to dispute. Not even the vividly remembered railroad service of Maurice McLoughlin, the California comet, could match Tilden's for velocity, and until Tilden assumed his region McLoughlin's service has been a thing to write books about. Tilden is not landing his first ball in court of late as often as he was a year ago, but when he does connect correctly it still continues to rival a rifle shot in its pace.

Evers Picks Giants To Annex Flag

Saratoga Springs, August 31.—John Evers, the little Trojan, is a daily visitor here, doing his best to select those which will come down in front. John looks great and feels great. Despite his severance with the Cubs, Evers is still the same baseball fan of old.

Just at present he is rooting hard for the Giants to come through and cop the pennant. In fact, John believes the flag is as good as won by the McGraw clan.

The scrappy veteran is one of the most rabid admirers of McGraw and pronounces the Giants' manager to be in a class by himself.

"I would give anything to see McGraw win the flag," said Evers this afternoon, "for he certainly deserves the honor. The way he has carried his team along in adverse conditions entitles him to victory. The race reminds me of the season of 1914, when the Braves got home first under the wire. The Giants are traveling along at the same speed and I cannot see how they can be held back.

More Try To Swim The English Channe

London, Aug. 29.—Omer Perrault, formerly a resident of Montreal, has arrived at Calais and intends to make an attempt to swim the English Channel. Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., who failed in his attempt to swim the Channel recently, will soon try again to accomplish the feat while Tiraboschi, the Italian swimmer, is also in training for this classic event.

Jabez Wolffe, the veteran swimmer, has been training at Brighton for the last two months for his twenty-second attempt to conquer the Channel. His most successful effort was in 1911, when, after he had almost recached the Franch coast, he was beaten back by the tide.

H. F. HU POPULAR KIANGWAN RIDER DIES OF INJURIES

Motorcycle Victim Succumbs Following Accident At Race Course

Mr. H. F. Hu, who was a prominent sportsman and long a familiar figure among the riders at the Kiangwan Race Course is dead as the result of the injuries he received when he was struck by a flying motorcycle on the occasion when an exhibition was given by Barr's Flying Circus at Kiangwan about six weeks ago. He passed away at the Paulun Hospital where he has been under treatment since the accident occurred last Sunday.

It was while the motorcycle was making a trial run before a race that the motorcycle blew out a tire while rounding the turn near the grandstand and while going fifty miles an hour went out of control of the rider. The machine crashed through the track barrier as Mr. Hu was crossing the grass course and struck him. About two weeks ago it was found necessary to amputate Mr. Hu's left leg which had been badly fractured, but this did not avail to save him from the spread of blood poisoning which set in.

Mr. Hu was educated in Tientsin, and was married but had no children. He was a son of Hu Che-fun, former Director-General of the Peking-Mukden Railway, and had six brothers and five sisters. He took a keen interest in racing, tennis and swimming, and was a well-known figure at Kiangwan where he has been a rider since the inception of the Race Course in 1912.

Besides winning numerous races himself, Mr. Hu was the owner of Sunripe, a pony that won the Kiangwan Champions in 1913. He was a prominent member of the International Recreation Club, having been associated with it since it was founded.

N. Y. Boxer Here En Route Manila

Bud Ridley, an American pugilist of international fame, is a passenger on the Suwa Maru bound for Manila where he will engage in four 20 round boxing contests at the Manila Stadium.

Ridley is accompanied by his manager, Joe Waterman, formerly of Manila and the U. S. Navy. Waterman is confident that Ridley will be a big drawing card when he boxes the Filipinos.

From Manila they intend to go to Sydney, Australia, where they have been offered a contract for five contests. Ridley made quite a record for himself in New York City last summer and will return to the American metropolis after his present tour.

the world's series. The score was 3-0. The attendance was 40,000.

Bob Meusel astonished the fans by stealing home in the eighth inning while Babe Ruth, who was passed three times, stole second and third in the fifth.

Nehf pitched good ball but his own error in the fourth and a slip up by Frisch in the eighth made the holes in the Giants defense through which the Yankees scored the three runs.

The Giants never sent more than four men to bat in one inning and came nearest to scoring in the ninth when Frisch was on the way to the plate and Young and Kelly ended the game by a lightning double play.

GIANTS' SLUGGERS WIN

New York, Oct. 9.—Tearing loose from their batting slump the New York Giants manhandled four Yankee pitchers this afternoon, drove them from the mound and after beating down a lead, won the third game in the world's series by a score of 13-5.

The American Leaguers took the lead in the third inning, hitting Toney for four runs, but the Giants came back strong in their half of the session, driving Shawkey from the box.

The Giants broke into another batting orgy in the seventh inning, getting eight runs on eight hits, sending pitchers Quinn, Collins and Rogers to the showers.

Babe Ruth was at bat four times. He fanned twice, walked once and got a single. The big slugger left the game in the eighth suffering from an abscess on the arm. Ruth bruised his arm badly sliding to third base in the first game. He may not play tomorrow.

HITS OUT SIXTIETH

San Diego, 7 p.m. Monday, October 10.—The Giants got to Carl Mays in the eighth inning of the fourth game of the world's series played at New York yesterday afternoon, scoring three runs and defeating the New York American League team in the fourth game of the world's series by a score of 4-2. The Giants made nine hits with the Yankees getting seven.

Babe Ruth clouted a home run in the ninth inning, with nobody on base. Schang's triple in the sixth sent McNally home with the other Yankee tally.

In the Giants half of the eighth Meusel hit the first ball pitched for three bases. Rawlings singled, scoring Meusel. Snyder bunted safely, Douglas moved the pair along with a sacrifice hit and both Rawlings and Snyder scored on Burns' double. Bancroft flied out to Ruth and Schang got Frisch's high foul fly. Three runs.

The eighth inning sewed up the game as the Giants had made a run in the sixth.

The summary—

	Runs	Hits	Errors
Giants	4	9	1
Yankees	2	7	1

YANKS WIN FIFITH

New York, October 11.—The Yankees made it three and two in the world's series on Monday when the American League team won by a score of 3-1. The opposing pitchers were Hoyt and Nehf.

Babe Ruth played in the Yankee lineup with a bandaged arm. Ruth is also suffering from a bruised leg.

BASKETBALL MEN PLAN 1921 PLAY IN FIRST MEETING

Hong Teams Instead Of Colors With Colleges And Rowing Club To Play

The foreign Basket Ball league for the fall of 1921 will consist mostly of Hong teams and representations from local colleges. The Rowing Club will be the only outsider. Eight teams will compose the league. A general meeting of the league will be called within the week. A schedule will be arranged at that meeting opening play by or before Nov. 1.

The preliminary meeting of the representatives of the foreign Basket Ball League, held last night at the Y.M.C.A. had twenty basket ball men in attendance. The change in composition of the league came about through the Hong patriotism of the players. The Reds, the Greens, the Blues and the Whites of last year, composed mostly of hong individuals decided for 1921 to play as Hongs instead of as colors.

Players, according to the plan of the 1921 committee will be apportioned off to give the weaker Hongs an assignment of an available player where needed to fill out the team to standard. Each Hong will enter its best men and then fill out on the draw from the executive committee's list of players.

Last night's meeting was presided over by Mr. R. B. Nichols. 1920's vice president. Mr. K. W. Irle was elected president, Mr. Nichols vice President, and Dr. C. G. Irons, secretary and treasurer, combining the two offices held separately last year.

The entrants to the league were announced as follows:

Shanghai College.
Shanghai American School.
Shanghai Public School.
Asia Banking Corporation.
Andersen Meyer Co.
American Trading Co.
Standard Oil Co.
Rowing Club.

The Personnel of the entered teams has not yet been filled. As soon as they are in, the executive committee will assign

SECOND PARTY OF DELEGATES NOW ON WAY HERE

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, Oct. 11.—The second party of the Chinese delegation left the Capital for Shanghai today on their way to Washington Pacific Conference. They are due in Shanghai on Thursday.

Among them are Mr. Chow Tze-chi, former Minister of Finance, and Mr. Chang Hu, expert adviser to the Ministry of Communications.

It is possible that, owing to the present uncertain political situation, Dr. W. W. Yen and Wang Ta-hsieh may decide not to go to Washington.

the players allotting lances to teams requiring filling out.

The School teams already are organised: The American School, the Public School, and the Shanghai College being ready for the season's play. The Hong teams will be filled out within a week or ten days.

The Columbia Country Club, one of the contenders last year is not entered this fall, chiefly because of the fact that most of their players are employes of the American Trading Hong. Their players this year will play for the Hongs.

The league last year consisted of the following teams:

The Public School.
The Columbia Country Club.
The Rowing Club.
The Reds.
The Greens.
The Blues.
The Whites.
The American School.

British Trade Is Slowly Gaining

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—Further signs of a trade revival are given in the trade returns for September which show that exports amounted to £55,000,000 as compared with £51,000,000 in August. Imports totalled £87,000,000 as compared with £88,500,000 in August.

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

To the Sporting Editor,
CHINA PRESS, City

Will you kindly publish the answer to this question:

"A" says that any baseball player at the expiration of his contract can if he desires play with any team he desires to.

"B" says that a ball player, once bought belongs to the purchasing team as long as he continues playing ball, unless he is sold over the waiver route or unconditionally released.

We would be glad if you would answer this question promptly as we leave Shanghai shortly.

Yours sincerely,
TWO SAILORS.

Shanghai, Oct. 11, 1921.

A ball player, once purchased belongs to the purchasing team until released or bought or traded, or sold on a waiver. At the expiration of his time contract he may not play with another team until his propriatory club has formally disposed of him. Most clubs in the State however have a reserve clause in their contracts, which provides that players, at the expiration of their contracts may not play organised ball again within three years. .....Ed.

American School Has Record Number As New Term Opens

The American School has opened with the largest enrollment in its history. It has enrolled 235 students in the first week of the fall term. This is as against a total enrollment of 219 during the entire year last year.

The largest increase is in the High School department. This is the department which the school is especially stressing as there are good facilities for grade work in several other places in China. The High School department has shown an increase of approximately one-third. The total enrollment for last year was 82; it has opened this year with an enrollment of 108. The school graduated in June a class of 10 and has this fall accepted into the High School a freshman class of 44. This class is too large to be handled efficiently in one section, and all freshman classes have been divided into several sections.

The Boarding department has shown a similar increase, there being 19 more boarders than there were in the school last year. This is the limit of the accommodation of the Boarding department without overcrowding; and it has been necessary to refuse a number of students on this account. However, the school has secured another house in the vicinity which it will occupy in a few days.

The assistant principal, Miss Lary L. Lowrie, who has been with the School for three years is the active head of the school while Mr. Bartlett, the principal, is giving his time to the promotion of the new school movement.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—The Upper Silesian problem is likely to come into prominence shortly as it is expected that the Committee of four representatives of the disinterested Powers, namely M. Hymans (Belgium), Senor de Leon (Spain), Senhor da Cunha (Brazil) and Dr. Wellington Koo (China) to which the Council of the League entrusted the examination of the facts will conclude its labors in a day or two.

Rumors in the French and Swiss press that a hitch had occurred owing to the refusal of certain Powers to accept the Committee's recommendation for modifications of the so-called Sforza Line partition are not confirmed. A telegram from Geneva says that the Committee's deliberations which have not yet finished are shrouded in complete secrecy, but the rumors caused the deepest pessimisim in Germany where it was taken for granted that the Sforza Line would be maintained.

The German Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, speaking at Offenburg, dwelt, according to a Berlin telegram, on Germany's anxiety to learn whether the Allies had changed their ideas in regard to Silesia or whether they intended to make a new state over which Germany would mourn for decades to come. He added that the German and Polish peoples were ready to reach an understanding, but if the Warsaw Government persisted in its mania for aggrandisement it would result in placing a pestilential political corpse between the two peoples.

Dr. Wirth also expressed the hope that the day was no longer distant when all reasonable men would meet in conference and consider the means of averting a world economic crisis and insist on the Allies speedily raising the military sanctions.

BRITISH TOAST JAPAN'S MISSION GOING TO EUROPE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 10.—The Japanese business mission to Europe were the guests today at a luncheon at the Yokohama Club of representatives of Yokohama, Tokio and British business interests.

The gathering of nearly 100 guests was presided over by the British Ambassador, Sir Charles Eliot, and included the Marquis Inouye, the Governor of Kanagawaken and the heads of British firms in the two cities.

In toasting the mission, the British Ambassador said he welcomed this opportunity of fostering mutual trade understandings between the two countries, and referred to the very successful mission of Crown Prince Hirohito who by his courtesy, affability and interest deeply impressed the Royal Family and the people of Great Britain and accomplished more than was possible by years of diplomacy.

Obata Soon Will Reply Is Expectation In Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, October 11.—Mr. Obata, The Japanese Minister, is expected to communicate shortly with the Chinese Government with regard to the latter's reply to the Japanese Note with regard to Shantung.

NOW UP TO JAPAN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8.—Comment continues regarding the Chinese reply to Japan's offer of negotiation. This reply is now generally construed to be an attempt on the part of Foreign Minister Yen to strike a compromise between the advice of the government's representatives abroad, who have unanimously advised for direct negotiation, and the advice of the irreconcilables under the leadership of Wang Ta-hsieh, Hsiung Hsi-ling and the students.

Therefore the document contains no statement refuting the principle of direct negotiation, although expressing the belief that the Chinese and Japanese attitudes toward the Tsingtao occupation differ so materially that such negotiation holds little promise of fruition.

If the Chinese reply consisted of a counter-proposal, constitutthere would be no question of the acceptance or non-acceptance of the memorandum by Mr. Obata. It is only in its aspect of a counter-proposal, constituting negotiation, that the Japanese Legation, as it is now doing, can hesitate to receive the document officially. Therefore it would appear that the burden of decision for or against direct negotiation has, by Minister Yen's reply, been transferred from China to Japan, and this much about the Foreign Office's memorandum deserves credit for cleverness.

Japan, on September 7, said to China: "Upon these bases, we invite you to negotiation for the return of Shantung."

NEW BASES OFFERED

Upon October 6, China replied: "We reject your bases, and set before you our bases. We do not object to discussion, but if you sincerely desire agreement you will have to conduct this discussion along the lines we indicate rather than those you indicate. Meantime we reserve the freedom to seek a solution in other ways than through mutual discussion should favorable opportunity arise."

If Japan formally "accepts" China's reply her action will constitute the countenancing of discussion upon other bases than those stipulated by her. She is forced either to do this or to directly discontinue all discussion by construing China's reply as a point-blank refusal to discuss.

Whether China's reply is to become the beginning of negotiation or the end of the preliminary discussion looking toward negotiation depends upon Japan's attitude and further action.

Meanwhile the importance of the Shantung issue in connection with the coming Washington Conference is daily waning in the minds of the interested foreign diplomats, and as well in the growingly disillusioned minds of the Chinese political leaders and diplomats.

OBATA STILL SILENT

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8. — Japanese action with reference to the Chinese reply to Minister Obata's Shantung memorandum had not been forthcoming up to three o'clock this afternoon. It is, however, appreciated at the Japanese Legation that some kind of action is necessary, that Dr. Yen's memorandum must be either officially received or returned to the Foreign Office. Therefore it is considered probable that one of these two courses will be pursued within the next day or two.

In well informed Japanese circles the Chinese memorandum is regarded as tantamount to a rejection of the Japanese offer and terms for direct negotiations on Shantung. The Japanese believe that the Chinese Government will try to bring the entire case up at Washington in November and therefore regard the question as being temporarily, at least, in abeyance out here.

The nature of China's reply came as a distinct surprise to many Japanese who are "in the know," as they had been led to believe that China would negotiate directly with Japan if the latter's terms were favorable enough to offer a basis for such negotiation.

A statement to this effect was made by a high Chinese financial official to Mr. Ono, Vice-President of the Industrial Bank of Japan, during his recent visit to Peking in connection with the Nishihara Loans, and the advocates of direct negotiations among the officials of the Chinese Government were sufficiently numerous to warrant the Japanese in the hope that China would reply in a sense favorable to her proposals.

Regarding the attitude of the Pacific Conference towards the Shantung Question, the best informed Europeans and Americans in Peking, while not disposed to state categorically that the Question cannot be brought up at the Conference, incline to the belief that the Conference will not consider itself competent to deal with the matter.

REPLY IS CRITICISED

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 8.—Today's Peking edition of Yi Shih Pao (Social Welfare) expresses disappointment over the Foreign Office's reply to the Japanese memorandum on Shantung. Without stating what it would have liked the Foreign Office to say the Yi Shih Pao criticises severely that portion of the Chinese reply in which it is stated that China reserves to herself the right "to seek a suitable solution of the question whenever a suitable occasion presents itself."

This statement, according to the editor of the Yi Shih Pao, is the worst part of the Chinese memorandum inasmuch as, the Shantung Case having been a question long outstanding, there is absolutely no necessity for China to make such reservations.

If, says the editor of the Yi Shih Pao, the Chinese Government brings the Shantung Question up at the Pacific Conference and fails to establish its case, the difficulties confronting the Government in any future attempt to enter into direct negotiations with Japan will be increased a hundredfold. Hence Yi Shih Pao believes that the reservations deprive the Chinese reply of most of its effect.

This belief does not, however, prevail in the majority of the Peking press and in the minds of the best informed Chinese and foreigners, all of whom say that China's reservation of her right to bring the matter up at any suitable time is merely the emphatic enunciation of a right that has always been hers. It commits China to nothing. It leaves her free to act in the matter as she may see fit to act.

LEITER'S PRIVATE STOCK IS STOLEN; VALUE IS $300,000

Washington, Oct. 10.—Wines and liquors valued at $300,000 have been stolen from the country residence in Virginia of Mr. Joseph Leiter, the financier. The thieves cut their way through the three-inch steel door of the wine cellar by means of acetylene torches and removed hundreds of cases of liquors in trucks.

This is the greatest theft of private stock since Prohibition was enforced. The caretaker was absent at the time of the theft.

MAKE BIG RAID

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 10.—As the result of a raid by 150 police on the house of a wealthy negro living in luxurious apartments in a fashionable quarter of Washington, 31 smugglers and thousands of gallons of spirits were captured in an underground vault which was protected by shotguns which discharged automatically on the approach of intruders.

Baden Powell Scouts

With the opening of the various schools all the Troops are now in full swing once again. The Public School Troop went into camp at Kuling during the summer months and spent a very enjoyable time there, thanks to the able leadership of Scoutmaster Hore. The Cathedral School Troop visited the new camping ground several times and stayed for ten days during Aug. They helped to cut down and clear away the numerous weeds that were growing there and the ground is now practically ready for the opening ceremony. Scoutmaster Toone had charge of the erection of the matshed and fence and has since been appointed Quartermaster of the Camp.

The Troop opened their new club room last week-end, of which a report has already appeared in the press. The Thomas Hanbury Troop had a weekend camp at Henli and are now preparing for their autumn season. The French School Troop camped at the permanent camp, their first "night out," and are looking forward to repeating the process in the near future. They are making an attempt to increase their numbers and are fortunate in having secured the services of Mr. R. E. Dunster as Assistant-Scoutmaster.

The official opening of the camp will take place some time in November when parents will have an opportunity of seeing their boys learning how not to rough it but to make themselves comfortable in camp.

The first Field Day will be held on Saturday, October 15. All Troops will parade at the corner of Route Zay Zoong and Avenue Joffre at 2 p.m.

The Scoutmasters have had two meetings since the holidays to make arrangements for the season's work. It is proposed to hold a Scoutmasters' dinner periodically during the winter months to bring the officers in to closer touch with each other.

An attempt is to be made to reorganise the Wolf Cubs and Mrs. Barham has kindly undertaken to act as Tempy District Cubmistress. More help is needed for this work from either ladies or gentlemen. The Association has to express its deep regret at the recent death of Mrs. Garner and the loss will be very keenly felt by the Public School Pack. Assistant Scoutmaster Bennett has temporary charge of the cubs, and is at present enquiring into the state of the various packs in Shanghai with a view to helping them.

The Association still needs men to help in the running of the Troops and will always welcome any offers of help.

SETTLERS vs. RED INDIANS

Settlers, represented by Thos. Hanbury and French School Troops, with S/M Luker in charge, will defend St. George's Camp, Siccawei, against attack by Indians, represented by Public School, Cathedral and American School Troops under command of S/M Toone.

Indians will have neckerchiefs tucked in back of belt and will try to enter the Settlement. Defenders will "shoot" them by removing neckerchiefs.

Marks: 20 marks for each neckerchief captured by Settlers and 10 for each Indian succeeding in reaching the Settlement without loss of neckerchief.

Times: General Parade at corner of Route Zay Zoong and Avenue Joffre at 2:15 p.m. March to St. George's Camp. Attack commences at 3 p.m. Cease-fire at 4:30 p.m. Dismiss at 5 p.m. Results to be announced at 4:45 p.m. after which time neckerchiefs handed in will not count.

General Rules. Neckerchiefs (not handkerchiefs) to be tucked in back of belt and not tied. S/M. Toone to inspect Indians for this. No defense of neckerchiefs allowed except by running. No staves to be brought. Settlers not allowed inside Settlement; any entering will be reckoned as wounded and placed hors de combat. Settlement limits to be denoted by red flags. Umpires will wear white brassards. District Scoutmaster I. D. MacDonald i/c General Parade Umpires:

S/M. A. Scott Morris.
A. S/M. H. H. Nash.
H. S. Bartley Esq. (mounted).
H. B. Lobb, Esq. (mounted).

Maps showing boundaries and scene of Hostilities will be forwarded to all Officers and Umpires.

INQUEST ON POLICEMAN

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon by Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kuan over the bodies of the Chinese police sergeant and his wife who were shot to death by armed robbers in their home at 1842 Sinza Road Sunday evening.

Evidence was given by the son of the dead policeman to the effect that coming out of the house at the sound of the shots, he seized one of the robbers by the arm. The man pointed a pistol at him so he released his hold. The son applied for compensation for his father's death and was referred to Gordon Road police station, to which station his father was attached.

Shanghai, October 11, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 3/8d. since Saturday. The New York price has advanced to 72¼ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 387. The only changes of importance in the official rates here today were in the Gold Dollar rate which was raised to 77½ and the Yen rate which was dropped to 61¾. The market at the opening was firm and business in Sterling was done as high as 4/2¾ for near and 4/1¾ for December. In Gold Dollars 81¼ for October and 79¾ for December was done. However, as the day advanced rates eased off somewhat, Chinese being heavy buyers so that at the close no better than 4/2 for Sterling and 80 for Gold Dollars was going for October delivery. There were sellers for December at 79¼ and 4/1. London and New York report their silver markets as being quiet and steady.

The Senate And The Canal Tolls Exemption Act

ONE month before the convening of the Washington conference, at which America is to stand as the apostle of the open door, equal opportunity, and other high-minded doctrines calculated to pave the way for disarmament, the Panama tolls skeleton is duly brought from the closet and displayed as evidence of the Senate's traditional disregard of America's foreign relations.

Why must the exemption of coastwise shipping from payment of canal tolls be made an issue again, and why at such an inopportune moment? President Harding, feeling the embarrassment of the situation, has asked the Senate to defer voting on the Borah bill until after the conference. The Senate's answer was to demand a vote Monday.

The Panama tolls issue, as in 1912 when the Tolls Act was passed, finds Congress divided along non-party lines. On one side are those who favor American shipping expansion through the aid of legislation, regardless of agreements with other countries. On the other side are those who stand for a strict interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, 1901, which clearly stipulates that the canal shall be free and open to vessels of commerce and war of all nations observing the rules on terms of entire equality.

John Hay, Secretary of State in 1901, understood that American coastwise vessels could not be exempted from canal tolls under the treaty. Elihu Root, Secretary of War, showed his same reading of the treaty in his masterful speech before the Senate, 1913, when the 1912 exemption act was repealed. Enlightened statesmen and eminent jurists on both sides of the Atlantic declared that the treaty clause permitted no other interpretation but complete non-discrimination.

And yet, in the face of world opinion, and of the repeal of 1913, the exemption measure is again the subject of raging controversy. It may be that the House of Representatives will hold discussion in abeyance until the conference is over, but even such restraint will not strengthen America's position at the disarmament conference.

The 100 percent Americans who clamor for exemption of coastwise shipping from tolls argue that the "all nations" mentioned in the treaty does not include the United States, because the United States built the canal and paid for it, and so necessarily is entitled to claim a special position. Those who are convinced that the British mercantile marine was possible only through protective legislation may accept the technicality as sound. But other Americans hold that the exemption clause would be a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and thus would involve the national honor.

For the first six years after its opening in 1914 the Panama canal was operated at a loss, owing partly to the slides in Culebra cut. Last year, however, the receipts were more than ten million dollars, greatly in excess of maintenance costs. It would seem that the canal will eventually become a paying proposition, and might even bring returns to defray the cost of construction which was half a billion dollars.

But the issue is not a monetary one, save to those who usually estimate only in dollars and cents. The Panama canal is a world highway of increasing importance. The decisions of the Washington conference will probably indicate the extent of the transfer of the world's center of interest from the Atlantic to the Pacific. American control of the canal, in the face of the demands for neutralisation now voiced by Japan and South American nations, should be sufficient compensation for the labor of building.

By rejecting the Borah bill Congress would prove that America is sincere in her policies of the open door and equal opportunity. The advantage to coastwise shipping would be slight, and could be attained in a way not affecting American foreign relations. England showed in 1912 that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was considered a test case for America's observance of foreign agreements, and England spoke for the rest of the world.

America's participation in the war, and her refusal to share in the spoils, earned her the name of the only nation capable of disinterested action. Again she has the opportunity for a disinterested action which would illustrate her sincere belief in John Hay's open door policy. Whatever true Americans may think the rest of the world believes the exemption act in favor of coastwise shipping to be the violation of a treaty. America's influence at the Washington conference, and her noble passion for equal opportunity and Chinese sovereignty, will be judged in the light of her adherence to the letter of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign To Raise $15,000

Chinese and foreign workers for the Y.W.C.A. campaign for funds gathered a hundred strong for a luncheon at the Oriental Hotel yesterday, when the drive was officially launched. The campaign extends to October 26 and the goal aimed at is $15,000, which is needed for carrying on the work of the coming year.

The luncheon guests included the team leaders and their workers and was most international in the interests which the guests represented. Miss Mabel Cratty who is accompanying the party of the China Educational Commission of the Foreign Missions' Conference of North America, was the principal speaker. Miss Cratty is general secretary of the National Young Women's Christian Association of the United States and has had many years of experience in women's work, both in America and Europe.

Miss Frances Fan, traveling secretary for the Association in China, Miss Jane Ward, general secretary of the Shanghai local Y. W. C. A. Miss Edith Sawyer, Miss Sophie Most, Miss D. Y. Sung and Miss Gleason gave brief outlines of their plans in carrying out the executive side of the campaign in their respective departments.

The team leaders for the campaign are as follows: Mrs. C. C. Nieh, Mrs. Wu Ting Fong, Mrs. Y. C. Tong, Mrs. Myien, Mrs. Li Ming, Mrs. Y. M. Chien, Mrs. C. W. Atkinson, Mrs. A. J. Welch, Mrs. Z. S. Yangfi Miss Me Lingsoong, Mrs. Carlton Lacy, Mrs. L. E. McLachlin, Miss T. T. Woo, Dr. P. Stone, Mrs. E. S. Cunningham.

A rather plain-looking chap went to the pictures the other night, and as his view was obstructed by the headgear of a young lady sitting in front of him, he ventured a mild protest:

"See here, miss!" he said. "I want to look as well as you!"

"Oh, do you?" she replied, quite pleasantly. "Then you'd better run home and change your face!"

HIS COMPLAINT

"Water!" yelled the fervent orator. "Aqua, aqua!" he shouted, lapsing into Latin, his mother's tongue. "Aqua pura! The greatest gift of Nature to thirsty man! What would the ocean be without water? Answer me that? What——"

That question had never struck his audience before. They pondered in silence.

"Water!" cried the orator again. "What would Niagara Falls be without water?"

Another stupendous question. His audience stirred restlessly; his arguments were too much for them.

"Of what use," screamed the speaker, "would our bath-tubs be without clean, beautiful water?"

As one man the audience turned and left the hall, perhaps to consider outside the orator's brainy conundrums. But one ignorant fellow said to another:

"That man has water on the brain!"

GOOD SPIRITS

There are three sorts of spirits—Those forbidden by the Eighteenth Amendment, those sometimes known as spooks, and those that are part of you. They are a health barometer, and indicate your state, physically and mentally.

Any medical man would corroborate the statement that it is unwise, if not dangerous, to get in low spirits, and as various causes produce that effect, it is as well to know what those causes are, and counter them. Forget not that what we call "Spirits" is really our vitality, the life principle.

We feel depressed in spirits on a wet day because the air is laden with vapor, and has proportionately less oxygen in it. The air, too, is lighter than usual, and does not balance the air in our bodies. Hence the depression.

The remedy is to get out of doors and double the normal rate of breathing. That, as is evident, will pump more oxygen into the system, and the benefit is immediate. The "lift" of the depression can be felt.

AND LAUGH!

Laughter stirs up the whole system and releases stored nervous power or vitality. It may be urged that one cannot laugh if there is nothing to laugh at; but, as a matter of fact, a forced laugh will soon progress to a natural one. Try you will get amused at yourself, and up will bound your spirits.

Finally, add to the quicker breathing and laughter, a loosening of your clothing. Undo neck and wristbands and the like. That's the last little touch. As the proof of the pudding is in the eating try this threefold remedy the next time you get the "blues"—the cure will be sure.

Chemists Seeking The Secrets Of Life Force

Prof. Baskerville Says That Civilisation Has Gone To Pot Because Of The Materialism Of Science

BY ARTHUR BENINGTON

IT takes a brave scientist nowadays to stand up before a great crowd of scientists and tell them that the lines along which they are working are too materialistic and to reproach them for a "growing smugness of material omniscience." For the tendency of most of what passes for science today is distinctly in the direction of explaining everything—even human emotions and aspirations—on the basis of absolute materialism. According to the men of science whose names are most in the public eye or whose words have most weight among their fellows, there is no such thing as spirit or soul; the mind of man is merely the working—electrical, mechanical or chemical—of material atoms and molecules, differing from those of clay or iron or wood only in the greater complexity of their arrangement, and life is but the temporary activity of an automatic machine that evolved mechanically from a series of less complex machines, set in motion by automatic forces and destined to annihilation when the machine runs down.

To get up before an assemblage of the world's greatest scientists—men who have contributed most to develop what is called civilisation—and tell them that "civilisation has gone to pot," requires courage.

A PRACTICAL CHEMIST

Therefore, the address on "Science and Civilisation" delivered before the international meeting of the American Chemical Society and the Society of Chemical Research in the great hall of the College of the City of New York by Dr. Charles Baskerville, in which the speaker did both of these things, caused something of a sensation.

For Dr. Baskerville is the intellectual peer of any of those who formed his audience, and his achievements in science are at least equal to those of any man that heard his words. He is the discoverer of the chemical elements carolinium and berzelium; he has been professor of chemistry at the College of the City of New York since 1904; he is author of many books that are chemical classics and is a member of many American and German scientific societies. His work in anaesthetics alone is enough to make him famous, for he devised methods of administering ether and chloroform effectively to patients who could not take them by way of the mouth or nose. This proved of immense value in handling the wounded during the war. His most recent work has been along the line of saving the employees of factories in which chemicals are manufactured or used in large quantities from the injurious and often fatal effects of inhaling the poisonous gases given off by these materials, and the masks invented by him for protecting men from poisonous gases are probably the best ever made.

So Prof. Baskerville is not merely a theoretical or laboratory chemist but an eminently practical one, who labors by preference on the solution of problems on which the betterment of human conditions depends.

CHEMIST IS INDISPENSABLE

Dr. Baskerville having been one of the chief organisers of the great international congress of chemists that took place in New York last week, I asked him if he could state in a few words toward what the chemists of the world were directing their principal energies today.

"They are working along two lines," he replied. "The first may be called economic. For the chemist has now become an indispensable factor in industrial life and is going to become even more important as the already keen competition for control of the industries of the world grows keener. Our former enemies and our former allies are now in eager emulation with us and with each other, and success or failure in trade or manufacturing often depends upon the chemical processes used. Every nation in the world today is looking to its chemists to improve, to hasten, to cheapen, to simplify, the processes of manufacture in all imaginable lines. There are acres to fertilise, there is power to be sought, there are natural resources to be utilised and waste to be saved. All of these are the job of the chemist of today and tomorrow.

"Another important part of this economic phase of the chemist's work is the attempt to increase the efficiency of labor by making the surroundings in which it has to work more sanitary, in guarding it against the occupational diseases, in saving its lungs and throat from dust and gas and poisonous or irritating fumes.

"The second line along which chemists are working is that of pure research, which is now taking the special form of research into the processes of life. The chemistry of all the functions of the human body is being closely studied. We talk about vitamins, but we want to know what vitamins really are and how they are produced. We know a little about the so-called ductless glands and their secretions, but the chemistry of these is yet to be learned. The chemistry of nutrition, of secretion, of excretion, of nerve action, of blood production and of all the other processes that go on in the bodies of men and animals and plants, in health and in disease, and that, taken altogether, make up what we call life—all these things are being studied intensively by many chemists, working hand in hand with the physicians.

"Besides these we are seeking for new sources of power, new and simpler ways of making sugar, paper and many other articles.

"It is along these practical lines that the world may look for developments from the chemists.

"I often wonder if half the world has even the slightest idea of what it owes to chemistry. For chemistry, though an ancient science, has made greater strides in the last 150 years than it had made in all the centuries that went before. As I said in my address on Thursday, almost all the chemical elements have become known since 1772; all we have found out about electricity and communicating with one another through space; all our ideas of dynamics, steam and gas engines involving transportation by land, water and air; ability to use the invisible; X-rays, the remarkable phenomena of radio-acticity; bacteria, immunology and serum therapy—all these are the discoveries of the last 150 years. All these, their correlations, their permutations, their co-ordinations, adjustments and applications, have brought each individual into touch or communication with all other individuals in the world. Thus science has made human history at overwhelming speed.

SMUGNESS OF MATERIALISM

"But it seems to me that in acquiring this knowledge man has quite naturally acquired a growing smugness of material omniscience.

"There has been too much of the material element in our science—even in our chemistry—of recent years, and too little of the spiritual."

"Is there anything spiritual in chemistry?" I asked, wonderingly.

"There should be," replied Dr. Baskerville, earnestly. "Though we know that the human brain works as the result of the action of material cells, there is something there that is certainly not material; something that cannot be explained on any purely materialistic hypothesis. This is the mind, the spiritual part of man, no less real than the material, and, though dependent on the material for its power to express itself, of far more importance than the material.

"Science has tended to ignore and neglect this spiritual side of man. It was due largely to this neglect that science contributed so much to make the mess of civilisation that resulted in the World War and all the horrors that attended it. It is due largely to this neglect of the spiritual that the world finds itself in the chaotic condition that has followed the war. Exclusive devotion to materialism explains the brutal mentality of the people for whom we once held high regard and against whom we fought; it explains the human wreckage of chaotic Russia; it explains the individual and national bickerings among those who fought and bled and loved side by side; it explains the mood of pessimism and depression that hovers about the world today. This is the mood which made me say that our boasted civilisation has gone to pot.

"Science, then, having brought about these conditions must find the remedy for them. This is the object of research. Research is, however, a dangerous tool. So is fire. But we cannot do without them. Every new development of man's genius carries with it an element of danger."

In his address on Thursday Dr. Baskerville elaborated this idea in the following words:

"Greed of man and of nations was stimulated by research, and these ran riot until the almost inconceivable catastrophe shrouded the world. The engine ran free and then raced. Uncontrollable power results in destruction. No engine is safe without brakes. The brakes were not there or, if there, failed or were not applied in time. The World War, with its unutterable sequelae, was thus a diabolical misapplication of scientific research. The future well-being of mankind will depend upon the moral use of research, and man must not allow its distortion to unholy purposes.

"William Adams Brown has said: 'Philisophy had dreamed of unity; religion had prophesied it; science has set itself the task of achieving it.' Science, we know, is not all materialism. It reaches over toward the spiritualistic—'else what's a heaven for?' We need to have the world grasp more clearly and firmly the uplifting spirit of science to attain to real civilisation. A new code of teachings and precepts for world-wide use and guidance needs to be devised."

I asked Dr. Baskerville where we were going to get this new code of teachings, and he quietly and earnestly pointed back 1,500 years to the Bible. But he thinks that the Bible, although he called it "a living thing which has exerted more influence for the welfare of mankind than any other inanimate instrument," which was written so long ago, is not quite up to date.

"The undreamed of accomplishments of the last 150 years," he said, "products of science and research, have led us into a period in the history of the world when it becomes more than ever necessary to think straight. The part played by science in bringing about the conditions now obtaining has laid upon science a serious responsibility to find a way out, else more war, more destitution, continued hatred of class against class, people against people. The preparation of a newer testament, a revision of the standard work of literature, is the obligation of modern science."

I suggested that a revision of our hearts, a return to the precepts of the old Bible, might be as effective as a revision of the book.

"Possibly," he replied. "Details are unimportant. It is obviously out of place at this time to discuss ways and means of preparing this further extension of human interpretation of Divine guidance, but it must be a recognised obligation of this and the next generation."

A BIBLE UP TO DATE

I gathered that Dr. Baskerville did not think of suggesting that the Bible be rewritten but rather that the precepts laid down in it be restated in terms of twentieth century life. A great historian has asserted that every generation needs to have history rewritten for it. Papini, in his preface to his life of Christ, just published, says there is nothing new that can be said on the subject but that the new generation must have it in terms of its own life. It is this that Dr. Baskerville means.

"Thursday afternoon's symposium," he continued, "was really one story in eight chapters. After my own address on 'Science and Civilisation,' which was introductory, Dr. Arthur D. Little discussed the first essential energy. Having got our energy, we must know what to do with it; this is the job of the engineer, about whom Dr. Leo H. Baekeland spoke. Now we must apply it to life, and Sir William Pope told us how. But science progresses through theories, the importance of which was set forth by Dr. Willis Whitney. Theories must be tested, and so Dr. C. E. K. Mees told of research as applied to the world's work. Prof. Ernst Cohen of Utrecht University in his talk on diffusion gave us a beautiful example, and Prof. Bancroft of Cornell wound it all up by describing that mysterious subject catalysis, without which so many of our reactions would be impossible.

"Chemistry is today very close to everyday life. It is an intimate part of it, for our foods, our clothes, our light, our heat—in fact, every smallest object that enters into our life—is dependent to a great extent upon the researches of the chemists. Every manufacturer has chemists working constantly to improve his methods or his product. But chemists, like other men of science, must no more devote themselves exclusively to material things; they must direct their energies at least with a view to the spiritual side of man."

Vitafer
The All-British Tonic Food

"VITAFER" the most tried and tested of all British TONIC FOODS. Vitafer is specially suitable at this season of the year as a general tonic and pick-me-up, following such a distressing summer as Shanghai has just experienced. The general result of which is that a great number of people are run down in Health, Nervy, Irritable, Physically and Mentally exhausted.

A Tonic food such as Vitafer is the finest Doctor obtainable at this present time.

VITAFER as a source of Protein is strongly recommended in preference to any meat preparation, to those with weak digestive systems a course of this tonic food will build up so that a speedy improvement in appetite, weight, and general well being follows. Simultaneously with this rapid body nutrition glycerophosphates are nourishing and rebuilding the nerve forces overcoming depression and lassitude which are consequent on a run-down neglected condition of health. It will also greatly benefit those who suffer from Neuritis, Anaemia, Dispepsia, Brain Fag and Kindred Complaints.

Suitable alike for children and adults, in 8 oz. sealed bottles. Price $6.00 per dozen, cash with order.

Sally Sees The Stores

OUT HERE WHERE STYLE ROADS CROSS

Slenderising styles for stout women; widening lines for the slim; youthful effects for the matronly; and grown-up makes for the miss; keep designers calculating and mere men guessing on who's what and why. Einstein, himself, though sure about the fourth dimension, writes at length on "Are you sure of your shape?" The modiste is, without doubt, making a definite contribution toward the satisfaction of feminine society.

Here in Shanghai we are at the crossroads of fashion. English and French models, made almost prohibitive in the States by high duty, are here in variety and abundance at reasonable prices. New York has full representation in all style shops; and exquisite showings of Chinese goods are richly unique and of lowest price. Added to the list are Japanese, Indian and Philippine products. I know of no merchants elsewhere who can offer such splendid purchasing opportunities to customers. Indeed, this is a rare city in which merchants have not found it necessary to maintain a "Buy at Home" campaign. I predict that the mail order catalogue has rather a discouraging circulation in Shanghai.

Goods well bought are half sold and, accordingly, selling is done easily at the Ethel Cameron shop. Her models are so carefully selected and exclusive; many are sold direct from the window. Blue serge, one piece dresses are especially wanted as we approach the cold days. An unusually good looking model shown at the Cameron Shop this week is of fine navy serge, trimmed with black braid, a touch of henna and smart belt. It is of straight line, tailored effect, suitable for wear on the street without wrap. A nobby close fitting turban of henna duvetyne under navy blue silk fringe is shown with the dress.

The Cameron Shop also has some striking tea suits of jackets and pantaloons, which ultra-fashionable lower New Yorkers, with social audacity, adopted recently. These suits, so Oriental in fashion, are of French import. One is made of heavy novelty silk, coral violet and jade in combination, slightly padded throughout and softly lined. One a bit more saucy, consists of jacket of black satin, embroidered with gala butterflies, to be worn with pantaloons of futuristic green.

The attractive entrance to the Jade Tree with its interesting, tone-colored name, leads into a veritable gallery of novelties, but a shopper who fails to go beyond them, to visit the upstairs showing of children's togs and ladies' gowns, misses an exhibition of surprise and splendor. An army of tailors busily executes orders of the smart designer, who avails herself of the local supply of rich fabrics to good advantage. Scintillene is a new imported fabric which is fashioned into smart evening dresses, some of dancing length and others with train. This material requires very little trimming. An unusual evening frock just put in stock is of golden brown Scintillene, made decollette, with shoulder bands of self-toned velvet. The short skirt is made completely of narrow ruffles of the elusive, shimmering material—an English importation. It would be a particularly interesting departure, on the dance floor, from the prevailing blues and pinks, and would be most becoming to a brunette of high coloring. Good taste would finish the costume with a pair of slippers, which could be had at Walk Over, and which might be either of bronze kid satin to match, or of cloth of gold.

The quaint sign of Ye Gift Shop is reminder that days are fast slipping by and that early shopping not only saves nerves, but also, like the bird, catches the worm. This is a homely way of saying that limited stocks do become exhausted and picked over. No need to laboriously prepare a list of gift possibilities ahead of time, as a step inside this shop will quickly upset it and substitute the skilful suggestions offered there. One finds rare ideas of color combinations and article suitability. Handbags are headliners for gifts. Shopping and afternoon bags are there in innumerable quantity and kind. An outstanding showing is of cleverly fashioned theater bags, one in exquisite shade of coral and another of apple green. These are made of rich silk, choice in tint and texture, trimmed with soft lace braid of old gold and containing outside pockets for the vanity outfit.

I saw in a friendly letter the other day, "Send me anything for Christmas, just so it is beads." Ye Gift Shop has anything and everything by way of neck ornamentation. In the profusion of beautiful beads here in China, we may forget how coveted a strand is in the States, and how expensive when bought in the home shops. I suggest a strand of turquoise, another of agate bordering into the taupe, and a generous drop of heavily carved white jade hung with sage green tassel, as representative of the large assortment.

A noted economist declares that the civilisation of a people is indexed by its wants. I feel highly civilised as the result of wants which Shanghai merchants have generated in me.

TEXACO THUBAN COMPOUND
a liquid lubricant for—
Differentials, Worm Drives, and Transmissions of Automobiles

Texaco Thuban Compound is a heavy, mineral lubricant—not a grease.

It gives the best obtainable lubricating service because it sticks to gear teeth. No grade, speed, nor any other adverse condition will make "Thuban" sling off. It forms a protective cushion of oil which prevents metal contact when the gears mesh, thus reducing friction and increasing power. Notice the decrease of noise when "Thuban" is used. There is no clash and grind when the gears shift.

A very little "Thuban" goes a long way. You need only enough to bathe the gear teeth as they revolve in the power housing. This is because of its adhesive power which keeps a film on them at all times. "Thuban" is a real economy because you must use it sparingly for best results.

Japanese Are Bitter Over American Offer Of Loan

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, October 4, 1921.—The report of negotiations for a Wine and Tobacco loan at Peking has brought forth jealous criticism and opposition in the Hukwang Hsin Pao, a Japanese newspaper published in Chinese here with the pronounced objective of attacking American as well as other foreign interests in China and nullifying among the Chinese readers any spirit of friendship and co-operation with Americans that night arise out of the cordial relations existing between China and America.

This Japanese newspaper represents the central China division of a Japanese press propaganda system of China-wide scope, there being the Shuntien Shih Pao in North China and Lingnan Jih Pao in South China. While these papers are published in the Chinese language, their Japanese proprietors are directly responsible for the editorial policy and editorial comments dictated to their Chinese editors.

Attempting to create an indignant public sentiment among the Chinese against the conclusion of the American loan, the Japanese paper in three editorial instalments, first reviewed what they consider to be the game being played by Americans in China, in the following words:

REAL OBJECT OF LOAN!

"Judging from a recent event, we can easily trace the real objective of the loan, namely, the loan is made as a premium to an insurance policy to retain the present position of Premier Chin Yung-peng. Lately the Chihli faction and the old Chiaotung clique were attempting a union to organise a third government and to overthrow the present cabinet. Premier Chin was for a time embarrassed, and by virtue of the power of Chang Tso-ling of Fengtien, frustrated the plan to organise a third government. But the plan fo overthrow the Cabinet was still vigorously in progress.

"Feng Yu-hsiang sent in his urgent request for funds, and recently Wu Pei-fu also telegraphically informed the government that the navy forces had no money and refused to fight, resulting in repeated defeats at the fronts. Wu Pei-fu meanwhile demanded huge sums of money. Premier Chin fully understood therefrom that what the Chihli faction demands is money for military use, while the demand of the old Chiaotung clique is the monopoly of making loans so that they can get the commission. And thus Chin had to yield to the demands of both in order to keep his position.

"That fact that Wu Pei-fu and Tsao Kun requested Chin to remain in his post, and the slacking off of the plot to undo Chin shows clearly that Chin must have successfully arrived at terms with the Chihli faction and the old Chiaotung clique. Among these terms of amity there could be no other more alluring than the unappropriated, or misappropriated $9,000,000, of the loan, which will easily satisfy the demand for military funds of the Chihli faction and the high hope of getting princely commissions of the old Chiaotung men."

SUSPECTS AMERICA

In the second installment of the editorials attacking this American loan, the Japanese editor expressed the suspicion that Americans are trying to keep alive the civil strife in China. In part he said: "Today China is a country of wars. During this time of fighting, any additional foreign loan means additional bloodshed and fighting. This loan of $16,000,000 came just at the time of the fighting in Shensi and Hupeh. Again just at the moment Pan Fu was in the danger of losing his portfolio of Finance.

"But happily the position was secured by the conclusion of this loan by Hsu En-yuan. It is not that the Chihli and Chiaotung cliques have temporarily released their clutches on Pan Fu, who has found ways to satisfy their wants. If such is the case, then this balance of $5,000,000 of this loan will summarily put to death the self-government movement of China."

In the third article published the Japanese paper launched a vigorous attack on the American government for advancing the loan at this time. The long article of protest follows:

"Among the foreign powers dealing with China, there is a nation which, by creating a favorable atmosphere with the people's thinking and feeling, and by financing the government in opportune moments so as to suppress the people's real power, subjects the Chinese nation and her people to the nightmare of sickness, which keeps them in a dying and yet undying state. Then this nation unperceivedly snatched away privileges in economics, finance, communications and industries. The ways and means are unusually mild. What others are searching this nation would hold aloof from; what others lay hold on, she would remain inert toward. She does not take common steps with other nations and thereby conceals her own original form. Is this not America?

VITAL TO EAST ASIA

"The convocation of the Pacific Conference is close at hand, and it vitally concerns the future of Eastern Asia. Lately among the minority of the Americans, Mr. Lansing has told his prominent student, Wellington Koo, to propose the Shantung question first at the conference of the League of Nations, and how again at the Washington Conference. She is fearing that other nations may be prompted by their respective interests in China to propose at the conference all questions under discussion but not yet settled between China and America. This will greatly endanger America's plan of economical aggression under the guise of equality of opportunities.

"Therefore America is losing no time to seize any privilege that she can from unstarted enterprises, and to secure those privileges already obtained from enterprises now in hand. For instance, in the Northwestern and Southwestern parts of our country (China) where communications are not easy, she tries to seize the right to install wireless stations. Again, because America has the right to build the longest railway in China, she instigates the Chinese to advocate the international control of railways. Her ambition to monopolise all rights with respect to communications in China is clearly shown.

STEVENS GOES SLOW

"In the field of finances, economics and industries in our country, she also has unwavering perseverance. When Thomas Lamont came to China, with a purpose of making loans there was intense opposition bursting forth, attacking him incessantly. Seeing no hope for instantaneous realisation, he suddenly left for home. Later the American banking group sent Mr. Stevens to China instead. Fully aware of the defeat of Mr. Lamont, Mr. Stevens adopted a policy of slow procedure. In order to avoid the suspicion of the Chinese and to curry favor with them, he repeatedly proclaimed that he would not advance any political loans.

"As mentioned above, the Pacific Conference is fast approaching; it becomes necessary to adopt an aggressive program. Coincidently, the Peking government is in urgent need of money. And America sees the necessity of speeding up, since she has the chance of controlling rights with the guaranty of a sound security, hence the conclusion of the wine and tobacco loan of $20,000,000. As to the obscurity of the provision for supervising the use for which the loan is made, the loss of credit of the banking consortium, and the breaking of word in the declaration of not making political loans, she has no time to consider.

"Now the dream of the Chinese is gradually passing. The Chinese-American friendship has been rent asunder completely. Unfortunately, at the same time the Canton government is negotiating for a municipal loan. Eventually both the North and the South will find enough financial supplies to prolong the war, so that the fisherman may profit thereby. This must be said to have been dangerously schemed."

Prominent Doctors Of Rockefeller Party Leaving On Empress

Two Return To States; One Will Tour East

Three members of the Rockefeller party, Dr. G. E. de Schweinitz, Dr. John G. Clark, and Dr. F. F. Simpson, who have been visiting in Shanghai since the completion of the opening ceremonies of the Peking Union Medical College, will sail Saturday on the Empress of Russia. Dr. de Schweinitz and Dr. Clark will return to America. Dr. Simpson intends to visit in Japan, and then make an extensive tour of the Straits Settlements, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and back to America by way of Europe.

Dr. de Schweinitz is president of the American Medical Association, and head of the department of opthalmology in the University of Pennsylvania medical school. His recent textbooks on diseases of the eye give him rank as one of the greatest eye specialists of the world. He is the first specialist to be elected president of the American Medical Association, a post hitherto reserved for practicing physicians or surgeons.

Dr. Clark is equally famous in his brauch, gynecology, of which department he is the head at the University of Pennsylvania medical. Dr. Clark is president of the American Gynecological Society, and is noted for special research in regard to cancer, and the radium treatment of certain gynecological diseases.
